ADJOURNMENT QUESTION.

Late Japanese News.

SWITZERLAND.

THE TRIBUNAL OF ARBITRATION.

NEW YORK, June 18.—A special from Geneva says the English are pressing a resolution for eight months' adjournment, and the indications are that if this is not granted they will withdraw from the arbitration. This the Americans will not concede, though a shorter adjournment might be accepted.

Very little was transacted before the board to-day beside the announcement of Mr. Davis of the non-reception of instructions from his Government. There is some reason to believe that the main difficulty in the arbitration has been found, and a basis reached upon which it is possible to continue the arbitration.

The English agents received on Sunday night a dispatch from their Government, and subsequently a meeting and long conversation took place between Sir Roundel Palmer and William M. Evarts.

News had been published here that Granville had stated in the House of Lords that the English agents would present a summary of the English argument before the Board. But Granville's subsequent explanation is not generally known here. This statement, therefore, has greatly mystified both sides, as no summary has been presented. The English agents are wondering how such a summary could be presented without their knowledge. At the meeting between Palmer and Evarts all this was explained and a distinct understanding had upon other points of the dispatch.

The different members are making preparations to stay a considerable period. The general view of the court is against postponement for eight months. It believes that if the President of the United States was disposed to go further in regard to the supplementary article he could convene the Senate in a few weeks, and if he will not do so in a few weeks, he will not do so in eight months. It is, therefore, regarded as unlikely that there will be any change in the American position. The members of the Court are evidently giving the whole business the most serious care, and dealing with the matter in a manner so that their action may not in the slightest degree embarrass either party. If the court should make any suggestions it is believed it will be something in the nature of a compromise, but at present the tribunal merely listens to the statements made on both sides.

OPENING THE COUNTRY TO FOREIGNERS.

The intention of the American Government to demand the opening of the whole country, or at least the district around Surago, has met with cordial favor from all parties, and the American Charge de Affairs' visit to the District has resulted most satisfactorily, the officials everywhere receiving him in a most cordial manner, explaining the process of manufacturing tea, giving details of its growth in different stages, and ending by offering copies of maps. The people every where were elated at the prospect of their country being opened to foreign intercourse, and are preparing to receive us.

The railroad between Yokohama and Yeddo, eighteen miles level plain, underway for the past two years, has not yet been opened. A narrow gauge and small driving engines will give a poor idea of locomotion of the present day.

Madigan, was chosen to preside. He acknowledged the compliment in a speech, warmly advocating the nomination of Horace Greeley, which was enthusiastically received. It was evident from the first what the result of the convention would be, his remarks in regard to the "Modern Cincinnatus" and "Farmer of Chappaqua" being received with deafening cheers.

Charles P. Kimball of Portland, was nominated for Governor by acclamation, which was unanimously carried by a rising vote, with cheers.

The following delegates at large to the Baltimore Convention were elected: Eben T. Pillsbury, Wm. H. McCrillis, Timothy H. Hubbard, and Edward K. O'Brien. The appointment of electors at large was postponed.

CHICAGO.

Suicide on the Lake—Excitement on 'Change.

CHICAGO, June 18.—A singular suicide occurred here last evening. Walter B. Wentworth and Henry F. Hall, recently from Lowell, Massachusetts, went out on the lake for a sail, between six and seven o'clock, and on returning towards the shore Wentworth suddenly drew a pistol from his pocket, shot himself in the breast, and fell into the lake. Hall jumped in and rescued him, took him ashore and started with him to the hospital, but he died before reaching there.

EXCITEMENT ON 'CHANGE.

CHICAGO, June 18.—Great excitement was caused on 'Change by the announcement that a firm that has been manipulating a recent immense corner in oats had been forced to succumb, and refused to accept any more oats on their contracts. The price of oats declined rapidly ten cents per bushel, declining from forty-one cents to thirty-one cents. The excitement among operators in grain is intense, and various rumors are in circulation as to the causes which produced the break.

CINCINNATI.

The Kissing and Cutting Affair—New Steamboat Line Agitated—Government Building Site—Cincinnati and Southern R. R.

CINCINNATI, June 18.—The Thompson-Bond affair has attracted great attention to-day. The particulars, as gathered by enterprising reporters from the parties themselves and from other sources, were displayed fully in the papers, and are provoking all kinds of comments. The high position of Mr. Thompson in the Church and in society, and his excellent reputation, the extraordinary statements of the assailant, Bond, and the unenviable position in which Mrs. Shuyledecker finds herself placed by the murderous assault, and the charges preferred by her crazed lover, conspire to surround the case with singular interest. Bond was brought into the police court to-day on a charge of assault and battery with intent to kill, but in the present uncertain condition of his victim the case was postponed, and the prisoner, being unable to give five thousand dollars bail, was committed to jail to await developments. The friends of Mr. Thompson are to-day no less pronounced in their opinion of his innocence of all criminal intent. His condition has been rather comfortable. He has been sleeping naturally, and his present situation is not discouraging, though his physicians are quite reticent in relation to the exact nature of his injuries.

GOVERNMENT BUILDING SITE.

The discussion relative to a site for a new Government building received fresh interest today by the Commissioners advertising for proposals looking to the purchase of at least half a square, and confining the location within the limits prescribed by Main, Fourth, Eighth and Plum streets. The time for proposals is extended to July 3d.

CINCINNATI AND SOUTHERN RAILROAD.

NEW STEAMBOAT LINE.

NILSSON IN LONDON.

The Galaxy of Operatic Stars in London Nine Prime Donne in a row—Nilsson's Return, Reception, and Triumphs—Ten Recalls in One Night, and Torrents of Boquets, &c.

[From the World's Special Correspondent.]

LONDON, June 4.—The London musical public should now be happy. The season is at its height, and all of its greatest stars are now assembled—hardly one is missing from the bright contellation. Our blase opera habitues are especially greedy of Prime Donne—Nilsson, Patti, Titiens, Marimon, Lucca, Kellogg, Sessi, Albani, Trebelli; we have them all. Most capitals are fain to be content with one or two stars of such magnitude at a time, but the case is very different with our opera subscribers, for if but one of the charmers is for a short period absent from her post or tempted by a lucrative offer elsewhere, they complain most lustily of the fair one's desertion, and of the remissness of the luckless impressario in letting even one of the favorite singing-birds slip from his net.

Great was the disappointment last year when it was known that we should have to survive an opera season without Christine Nilsson, and glad were the tidings that this summer would be again brightened by her presence on this side of the Atlantic. The brilliant and extraordinary success of Mlle. Marie Miramon seemed to compensate us for a time for the absence of the fair Swede; nor will the reputation or popularity of the former exquisite singer suffer in the least by her rival's return. But let it be said again, London is greedy as regards primme donne, and Mlle. Nilsson is an artist of such unexceptional and peculiar charm and ability, so different in style from all our other favorites that without her our list was sadly incomplete. Since her first appearance at her Majesty's opera in 1867, no singer has retained a greater share of popularity in London that Mlle. Nilsson. In addition to her beautiful voice and clear singing, her elegant and graceful personal appearance and great taste in dress have much to do with this, and enable her to endow her impersonations with a certain dreamy, poetic charm which is irresistible. In addition to the characters of Lucia, Marta, Alice ("Roberto il Diavolo"), Margherita ("Faust"), Elvira ("Don Giovanna"), Astriflammante ("Il Flauto Magico"), Cherubino ("Nozze di Figaro"), Desdemona ("Otello"), and Mignon, in which Mlle. Nilsson so often delighted us, the roles of Ophelia, ("Hamlet") and Violetta ("La Traviata") were, perhaps, her most successful ones, and those in which she is specially remembered here. The latter part (that of Violetta) was the one selected by Mlle. Nilsson for her rentree, being the same in which she first made the acquaintance of a London audience. The house was the most crowded and brilliant of the season, and for days not a seat was to be obtained, some of the stalls being sold at fabulous prices. A more enthusiastic welcome or a greater triumph than awaited her return not even an artiste whose career is a series of successes and applause could possibly desire or expect.

Mlle. Nilsson has decidedly improved since she was last with us. Her voice is more powerful and her vocalization more perfect. It is, however, in her appearance and acting that the greatest change may be noted. Apparently a voyage across the Atlantic has been beneficial to her health and physique, while as regards dramatic force she shows an amount of abandon and spirit which were lacking in her former performances here. Mlle. Nilsson was always remarkable for her tasteful dresses, but certainly on Tuesday night in her exquisite toilets she surpassed herself. More brilliant and elegant dresses than those worn by her have never been on the stage, and when in the ball-room scene of the second act she appears in a superb white dress looped up with festoons of flowers, splendid diamonds glittering in her fair hair, a more beautiful Violetta was surely never presented to our view. Mlle. Nilsson was recalled three times after the first act, three times after the second, and four times at the conclusion of the opera (and it must be borne in mind that in London this amount of applause represents an enthusiasm rarely excited amongst our usually cold audiences), besides which the charming heroine had more bouquets showered upon her during the evening than she herself, assisted by the Alfredo and Germont of the occasion, could conveniently pick up. M. Capoul made his rentree on the same evening as Alfredo, and sang and acted in his usual exaggerated style.

A little more fire infused into Mlle. Nilsson's impersonations is a decided improvement, but M. Capoul stood in need of no such additions as regards his performances; indeed, when he was last with us he was far too much given to excess in this respect, and the change which has rendered his fair compagne de voyage more charming than ever, has simply carried him beyond all reasonable bounds. When M. Capoul tries to do less, what he does accomplish will probably be much more satisfactory than it is at present, and, unfortunately for M. Capoul, the great and increasing success of Signor Campanini has made us rather fastidious just now apropos of tenors. Signor Mendioroz was most efficient as Gremont pere, surely the heaviest of heavy fathers! The orchestra and general ensemble of the opera were all that could be desired.

Any other details concerning the performance on this occasion are but of very slight interest, Verdi's opera (much abused as it has been at times) being ever popular when the part of the heroine is played by an artiste of the highest rank, and the audience of Tuesday last assembled solely to greet Mlle. Nilsson, in her well-remembered impersonation. To many this opera possesses none the less attraction from the fact of its being pervaded by a slight flavor of naughtiness, and the opportunities which it affords to a singer are certainly not small, and the part has ever been a favorite one with the most celebrated of light soprani, and one with which the names Mesdames Bosio, Piccolomini, and Adelina Patti have been specially associated. Of the former, great representatives of Violetta, Mlle. Nilsson's ideal most closely resembles that of the late Mme. Bosio, and, like her, Mlle. Nilsson brings the pathetic side of the character most prominently forward, giving a refined reading to the part. Although "Libiamo" and "Ah Fors'e lui" are given by her with all due brilliancy and effect, it is in her rendering of the finale to the second act and in the touching music of the last scene that Mlle. Nilsson succeeds in rousing our sympathies to the highest pitch.

On dit that Mlle. Nilsson has long had a desire to sing with Sir M. Costa as musical director. If so, her wish is now gratified during this season. "La Traviata" has since been twice repeated to houses crowded from floor to ceiling, and on Saturday next Mlle. Nilsson will appear as Margherita.

The director of her Majesty's opera is in luck this season, exceptionally large audiences being alternately attracted by Nilsson, Marimon, and Campanini, who to-night makes his first appearance in "Il Trovatore."

Meantime a novelty is in preparation, namely, "Les Deux Journees," of Cherubini; and we may look forward very shortly to hearing Mlle. Marimon as Margherita, an event that is anticipated with unusual interest by her many admirers, who predict for her a great success in this role.

CABINET MEETING.

Our Differences with Great Britain.

WASHINGTON, June 18, 1872.

RETURN OF THE PRESIDENT.

The President returned from Long Branch this morning. Previous to the Cabinet meeting Secretary Fish held a long consultation with him respecting the Alabama claims. Much business awaited the President's attention.

OUR DIFFERENCES WITH GREAT BRITAIN.

Our Government has not objected, and does not propose to object, to a postponement of the arbitration at Geneva, as desired by Great Britain, and will do nothing to give the Queen a pretext for withdrawing from the arbitration. It is considered within the power of the tribunal to grant a postponement for a reasonable time, or until the Senate again meets in the regular course, to act on such modifications of the amended additional article to the treaty as may be proposed by Great Britain. No extra session will be called, but in the meantime nothing will be done on our part to occasion a failure of the treaty. No fears are now entertained in that direction, and there is no information to warrant a conclusion that the efforts to adjust the differences will be ineffectual.

CABINET MEETING.

The Cabinet meeting commenced at noon. There were present Secretary Fish, Secretary Delano, and Postmaster General Cresswell. Judge Richardson represented the Treasury Department, and Bristow the Department of Justice. The War and Navy Departments were not represented. The meting was of short duration. Secretary Fish read several brief dispatches. The latest received by him from Geneva, giving the present condition of affairs before that Tribunal, contained no information indicating final results. The representatives of the several departments presented various subjects in routine business requiring the action of the President.

WEATHER PROBABILITIES.

Clear and cloudy weather and winds veering to fresh and brisk westerly, north and west of the Ohio valley during to-night and on Wednesday; cloudy and possibly threatening weather and fresh southerly winds for the lower lake region; clear and partially cloudy weather for the New England and Middle Atlantic States, with light to fresh south-easterly to south-westerly winds for the Southern States, except over the Southern portion of the south Atlantic States, where cloudy weather, with occasional areas of light rain, is probable.

The exemption of persons whose annual sales do not exceed one hundred dollars is repealed by the new law.

INDIANA.

Vice President Colfax at Home—Enthusiastic Reception.

SOUTH BEND, June 18.—Vice President Colfax, with his wife and child, arrived here this morning on the early train. Mr. Colfax is in good health and excellent spirits. To those of his friends whom he has met on the streets today, Democrats and Republicans alike, he expresses entire satisfaction in the result at Philadelphia. This morning his friends proposed to give him such a greeting as would show the friendship and esteem that those who have known him longest and best have for him. This evening, about eight o'clock, they assembled in the Court House square to the number of two or three thousand, and, accompanied by the South Bend cornet band, proceeded to his residence, four squares distant. The immense crowd gathered in and about his grounds, and after the band had played two or three tunes, called loudly for Mr. Colfax, who appeared on the portico. Cheer upon cheer was given for him, and when they had subsided, he addressed his friends in a half hour's speech.

Mr. Colfax said he had tried to evade this reception, but the affectionate regard his neighbors and friends so often illustrated heretofore seemed to adhere to him more closely in approaching the close of his public life. He spoke of the obligations he had been under from his boyhood to many of the thousands before him, who had not only themselves supported him, but had educated their children and children's children to believe in him also. He said that when leading and prominent Republicans insisted that he had no right to fix the time when his public life should terminate, and that it would be selfish and wrong for him to refuse the use of his name if the party desired the old ticket, he had yielded to that appeal; but when a majority of the Convention determined it would strengthen the ticket to nominate another, he promptly telegraphed his adhesion to the new ticket, and would have been faithless indeed after having been a candidate, before the Convention, if he had not desired now to add that he hoped to rejoice with them over the elections in October, not of Governor Brown, but of Governor Saxton, and the rest of the Republican ticket down to his old friend, Sam Futt, the real estate appraiser, only regretting that he had not more real estate for him to appraise.

He spoke of the principle that had controlled his whole life, from the Constitutional Convention twenty-two years ago, when, as their representative, he had in a small minority denounced the article which prohibited negroes from entering the State as a disgrace to civilization and humanity, and which every one now repudiated, although then adopted by 90,000 majority. He had sought to lift up the down-trodden and to secure liberty, protection and equality under the law to all, and he rejoiced that no one now throughout the land dared openly to oppose these principles. He added that he had determined that throughout this term no temptation of any kind should induce him to drift into antagonism or rivalry to the President, and that his name should not become in any way a nucleus of disaffection or a wedge of discord. Whenever he differed as to public policy, he preferred rather to counsel privately than by public protest to his maker, or ferment discord. He was constantly urging unity, harmony and conciliation as political necessities to keep a party of three millions united and victorious. He lamented all discussions and welcomed the season of rest and quiet before him, instead of the care, labor and responsibility of the past twenty years. He said he should prove in the home life he expected to enjoy with the people who had given him such a life-long attachment that he was as earnest and consistent a Republican in private life as when in public station.

The speech was followed with hearty cheering for the speaker, then for Grant and Colfax, and then for Grant and Wilson, when the crowd dispersed.

THE INDIANS.

The Summer Campaign Opened.

ST. LOUIS, June 18.—Judge Hubbell, General Agent of the Atlantic and Pacific Railroad, who has just returned from a business tour in Texas, brings information that before leaving Sherman, Texas, an army officer arrived there from Fort Richmond, Jack county, and reported that a body of Indians, variously estimated at from three to ten thousand, had made an incursion into Texas, and were overrunning Young, Jack, Denton and Parker counties, and that the settlers were filled with consternation and alarm. The Indians, it is said, were going to Huntsville to liberate Saloula and Big Tree, confined in the State prison there.

It is reported that all the Indians on the Fort Sill Reservation had left on the war-path. Already two fights had occurred near Weatherford, in which four whites were wounded, and two Indians killed and two captured. The latter are lodged in Weatherford jail. The commanding officer of Fort Richardson is said to have gone to Austin to consult with General Auger regarding the invasion, and the latter is reported to have telegraphed for two more cavalry regiments to report immediately at the points threatened by the raiders.

Judge Hubbell says that there is no doubt in the minds of well informed Texans that a big Indian war is at hand, and many settlers are leaving their homes. It is believed that the Kiowas were the leaders of the raid, assisted by the Apaches and others.

There was no quorum at the Ockemulgee Council up to Tuesday last, and none of the tribes from Fort Sill had yet come to participate in the deliberations.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 17.—The White Mountain Apaches of Arizona are again on the war path, nothwithstanding the late peace "palaver."

THE LABOR QUESTION.

One hundred and eighty policemen have charge of Durant's sugar factory to prevent the strikers from interfering with the men at work.

The Eight Hour League propose holding an anti-police indignation meeting on Thursday night.

There are no new developments at the police headquarters in relation to private strikes. The entire police force is on duty and ready for any emergency. A large force is stationed at the Metropolitan Company's gas works, protecting the new gang of workmen. Durant's sugar refinery is still protected by a strong force, in anticipation of an attack.

Meetings of various striking associations were held to-day. Three hundred and fifty men, employed at different gas works, assembled this morning and resolved to demand eight hours a day, or twenty per cent. advance on wages.

The long shore men working on the North river have begun a movement for an increase of wages, demanding eighty cents an hour after five o'clock, or double the amount received for day work.

The Jersey City sugar house employes, who are on a strike for two dollars and fifty cents a day, held a meeting this morning, and resolved to accept the offer of two dollars, provided the hours of labor be eight, and twenty cents an hour for extra labor be paid.

A large majority of the boiler makers and machinists of Jersey City struck this morning. The New York metal workers feel confident that their strike will be completely successful within a week or ten days.

The Eight Hour League held a picnic at Jones' Woods this afternoon.

BOSTON.

Second Day of the Musical Jubilee.

BOSTON, June 18.—The Coliseum was somewhat better filled this afternoon. The performance commenced with the choral "Now may the will of God be done." It was given by a full chorus, organ and orchestra. One of the attractions of to-day's programme was the debut of Madame Peschka Kinner. She sang an aria from "Magic Flute," accompanied by a full orchestra. At the close the whole audience rose and applauded.

Madame Arrabella Goddard was warmly welcomed on her first appearance in this country and played a piano solo, "Last Rose of Summer." After an intermission the Grenadier Band, under the lead of Daniel Godfrey, made its appearance, and was received with tremendous cheering by the whole audience, the organ playing an English anthem. After the applause subsided, Madame Rudersdorff was led to the rostrum by Gilmore. The British National anthem was then performed. The final chorus was accompanied by the Grenadier and all bands and the organ at full power, while the bells of the city and cannon were brought into requisition. The enthusiasm was immense.

Gilmore resigned his baton to Godfry, who conducted the performance, and on a repetition in answer to an encore, Godfry retained the baton, and conducted the Grenadier band through the "Star Spangled Banner," with a full cannon accompaniment, causing a great outburst of applause, and cheering for the "red coats." The "Anvil Chorus" was next performed with the usual accompaniment, and the concert closed by singing the "Missionary Hymn."

There is now no question of the perfect success of the enterprise.

—A special dispatch from St. Thomas says: Captain Bowen, commander of the steamer Virginius, disgusted with the management of the Cuban agents and the cowardice of his creole crew, has resigned his command and returned home.

—At Louisville, on Tuesday evening, Kate Gaats, a girl twelve years old, in a room alone, dropped a lighted match into a can of coal oil, which exploded, setting fire to the girl's clothing and a bed in the room. The flames were extinguished. The girl was terribly burned from the neck to the feet.

—Near Springdale, twelve miles north-west of Cincinnati, Thos. Hill, a lad of sixteen years, while out hunting, was accidentally shot and instantly killed by a young comrade. His companion was climbing a fence, and fell, when the gun was discharged and the contents entered young Hill's breast. There were four boys in the party.

—The Missouri, Kansas and Texas Railroad is finished, and trains are running to McAlister, one hundred and eight miles north of Sherman, and the grading and masonry are completed thirty miles farther. Gamblers and desperados who had followed and given much trouble to the railroad men, have been effectually driven away by the military.

—Early on Sunday morning an engine coming West on the Pittsburgh, Cincinnati and St. Louis Railroad ran over two unknown men thirteen miles east of Steubenville. The men were lying across the track in opposite directions, head and feet of each resting on the rails. The wheels passed over both, cutting off their heads and feet. On the body of one was found a revolver and pass book, with William Lloyd written on the leaf.

Steel in New Zealand.

It seems that the iron-sand, as taken from the beach, is mixed with an equal quantity of clay and of the ordinary sea sand, which contains a large admixture of shell; these materials are worked up into bricks, which are hardened in a kiln, broken up into regular pieces, and smelted in an ordinary cupola furnace. The product of this simple process is cast steel of the finest possible texture, from which some beautiful specimens of the finest cutlery have been manufactured. The experiments were conducted by a mechanic in the Government employ, who was restricted to an expenditure of 100l., and was therefore, only able to erect a furnace of the most temporary description; he, however, succeeded in producing at the first and only trial 5 cwt. of steel in the manner described above, and his success seems likely to lead to further and more extensive efforts to utilize the almost inexhaustible deposits of this ore which exists at Taranaki and elsewhere.—London Times.

SUMMER FASHIONS.

Few fashions, which have been recently introduced, have become so universally popular as the polonaise. It is adapted to all ages, and may be made of almost any material, while it is becoming to all figures, whether slender or inclined to embonpoint. The polonaise may also be worn over any number of different skirts, thus affording a constant change. The greatest latitude is permitted in the materials for the polonaise. They may be of foulard, figured cretonne, grenadine, or of almost any other material which the fancy of the wearer may suggest. One of the newest styles of trimming the polonaise of flowered silk or foulard is white Cluny lace. This trimming imparts a most distingue air to the garment, especially if it have a black or dark ground.

Many of the foulards are exquisite, both in color and design, and form most elegant costumes. Some of the newest have a blue or violet ground, with checks of buff or light brown; the different shades of gray and golden maize have small lines or grecque patterns in black.

The grenadines with white or light grounds, striped with satin stripes, make very pretty overdresses to be worn over silk for evening toilette. Striped patters for underskirts, of every color and material, are much worn, and have a pleasing effect.

The skirts which are worn with these polonaises are about a yard and a half in length at the back—about mid-length between the short costumes and the trained robes. The breadths are always cut on the bias in front and at the sides, but the back breadths are on the straight. The front breadth bias on each side is set on flat; the side breadths in large plaits turned back, two on each hip, and the straight-way breadths are put in large gathers. The skirt is about three yards and a half round, the flounces cut either straightway or bias. If plaited, double the with of the skirt is needed; but if gathered, not more than once and a half round is required.

Sacques, of white pique, are used for home wear. Brown or drab guipure is frequently used for trimming white material and produces a very pleasing effect. Bands of embroidery are also very fashionable as a trimming for summer costumes, when the material is not too thin.

The black silk paletot is much worn for the promenade. A new shape of this garment is made half-fitting in the back and straight in front. It has a long, pointed hood, which is finished at the end with a black tassel, with a lace top. The sleeves are cut very wide, and the whole is trimmed with a rich trimming of deep tasselled fringe over black lace.

Cashmere wraps are still worn upon cool days. The double cape, trimmed with lace, and open at the back, divides the popular favor with the embroidered jacket, which is, at the same time, coquettish and graceful.

Muslin dresses for summer toilette are cool and graceful, and are worn with a fichu and basque. These are made either pointed, square or round, and are open in front. A very pretty and new fichu is made of white muslin, having a double row of white puffs through which pink, or any other colored ribbon is run. The fichu is edged with a deep fall of black Chantilly lace.

A white muslin basque, which may be now worn with any skirt, is made open in front en chale, and has revers which are trimmed with either a narrow fluted ruffle or Valenciennes lace. The skirt of the basque has also revers in front. The sleeves are a loose tight, having revers in the wrist, trimmed to correspond with those on the waist. The waist is fastened together with two ribbon bows of any color to match the dress, and bows are also placed upon the sleeves.

Strauss.

This name is especially familiar to this country to those who feel an interest in music adapted for the purpose of dancing, marching and promenading. Johann Strauss is the bard of the ball-room, and the tone poet who has written some of the best measures ever made for the poetry of motion. The feet of his stanzas are generally supposed to be even more true and melodious than those of the "hexameter which rises like the fountain's silvery column, and in the pentameter ever falling in melody back." In fact, the compositions of Strauss have moved many of the prettiest feet in Europe and America, and especially has he touched the popular heart of Austria. He came over in the steamship Rhein, with his magnificent band, to participate in the Boston musical festival, and will be one of the principal features of Gilmore's Peace Jubilee. He has two younger brothers, all leaders of orchestras; also eminent as composers of dancing music. His father, John Strauss, was also celebrated in the same line; but his fame has been eclipsed by his son's superior genius. The Johann Strauss now on our shores was prepared for the military profession, but his musical nature determined his father to make a musician of him. At sixteen he had become a virtuoso on the violin, and had published several compositions which became popular, and at nineteen he formed an orchestra similar to his father's famous one, and actually surpassed it. In 1848 he published his famous "Radetzky March," now a national air in Austria, for which he received a title and an honorable decoration. He traveled all over Europe with his orchestra, and covered himself with glory and decorations of distinction. He achieved his greatest triumph at the Paris exhibition of 1867, where Strauss' concerts were among the principal attractions. The number of his published works now is over six hundred, and many of his productions have had an extraordinary sale. Of his "Radetzky March" and "Annen Polka" more than half a million copies have been sold. He receives from his copyrights fifty thousand florins annually, and is said to be by far the richest composer in Europe. He is now forty-eight, but looks much younger. He will remain in this country about four months, but, it is said, according to contract, will not appear professionally anywhere outside of the Boston Jubilee.

Steamboat Statistics.

The steamboats inspected in the United States during the four years ending December 31st, 1871, amounted in number to 12,318, with an aggregate measurement of 3,744,859 tons. These vessels were distributed as follows: On the Atlantic coast, 5,313 vessels, with a measurement of 1,730,238 tons; on the waters flowing into the Gulf of Mexico, 4,153 vessels with a measurement of 1,190,848 tons; on the lakes, 2,535 vessels, with a measurement of 531,750 tons, and on the Pacific coast 617 vessels, with a measurement of 292,013 tons. During the four years ending December 31st, 1871, the casualties to steamboats amounted to 526, of which 190 were sinking; 151 by fire, 87 by collisions 56 by explosions, and 42 wrecks. On the Atlantic coast, 102 casualties occurred, of which 38 occurred by fire, 31 by collisions, 18 by explosions, and 15 by wrecks; on the waters flowing into the Gulf, 330 casualties occurred, of which 187 were by sinking, 88 by fire, 37 by collisions, 25 by explosions, and two by wrecks; on the lakes 69 casualties occurred, of which 23 were by fire, 17 by collisions, 17 by wrecks, 9 by explosions, and three by sinking; on the Pacific coast there were 18 casualties of which 8 were by wrecks, 4 by explosions, 2 by collisions, and 2 by fire.

The loss of life from these 526 steamboat casualties amounted to 1,473 persons, of whom 556 were destroyed by fire, 405 by wreck, 399 by explosions, 80 by collisions and 33 by sinking. This loss of life was distributed among the different districts as follows: On the Atlantic coast 319 lives were lost, of whom 156 were destroyed by wreck, 134 by explosions, 19 by fire and 10 by collision; on the waters flowing into the Gulf of Mexico 713 lives were lost, of whom 455 were destroyed by fire, 218 by explosions, 29 by sinking, 10 by collisions, and one by wreck; on the lakes 235 lives were lost, of whom 82 were destroyed by fire, 58 by collisions, 58 by wreck, and 53 by explosions; on the Pacific coast 206 lives were lost, of whom 190 were destroyed by wreck, 14 by explosions and 2 by collisions. Fanny Jordan and the King.

A sharp young American woman, a Mrs. Fanny Jordan, whose maiden name was Chumley, has been playing a pretty and profitable game with the King of Bavaria. His Majesty rarely appears in the capital, but leads an isolated life at his ville of Hohenschwangan, where his chief enjoyment is that of music. The lively adventuress went to the place with the sweet and pretty name, and took lodgings at the Golden Bear Hotel, determined upon the conquest of the King. Walking out with her femme de chambre when she saw royalty approaching she fell to drawing the beautiful landscape with all her might. The King, who is proud of the scenery, approached the fair artist and opened an affable conversation. When he invited the engaging Fanny to visit his country seat; and gave her a white mare, a diamond bracelet, his portrait framed in solid gold set with emeralds, and other gifts of great value. Then he lent her money in quite large sums; and then his uncle Leopold, hearing of the matter, employed two Munich detectives to hunt up the antecedents of the enchantress. Learning his determination, she fled, leaving behind her a large trunk containing 100 letters from different lovers. For the last three years the lady has been seeking, and occasionally finding, her fortune in different European capitals. Her last affair, before the Bavarian speculation, was in Berlin, where she did so bedevil an unfortunate Colonel that he resorted to forgery to gratify her incessant demand for money, and so was ignominiously cashiered. The Bavarian detectives having found her in a retired village, allowed her to make choice between leaving the country or going to prison. So she continued her flight into Switzerland, with $10,000 in money and valuables, the net proceeds of her Hohenschwangan speculation.

Will they Vote.

The London Examiner, noting the assertion that women could not be induced to vote if they had the right, thus refers to the statistics of their conduct in the municipal elections where they already enjoy the privilege: It gives the result of sixty-six contested municipal elections. These are not selected cases, but are exhaustive so far as statistics are concerned. The result is, that out of every 1,000 women on the register, 516 went to the poll, as compared with 514 out of every 1,000 men on the register. The lesson of those elections is more striking when the actual figures are given. Out of 27,946 women registered where a contest occurred 14,419 voted. Of the men there were 166,787 on the register, and 94,080 at the polls. Making allowance for the reluctance of old spinsters to change their habits and the more frequent illnesses of the sex, it is manifest that women, if they had the opportunity, would exercise the franchise as freely as men. There is an end, therefore, of the argument that women would not vote if they had the power.

ONLY in the cases of Sedan and Strasburg is the evidence as to capitulation before General Chanzy's committee to be published. The report suggests that in future all capitulations shall be referred to courts-marshal.

MRS. JUDGE BUSBY, of St. Louis, died in that city on Saturday through grief. It seems that while the Saengerfest procession was moving through the streets, word was brought to Mrs. Busby that an awning had fallen and crushed her two boys. She fell senseless to the floor; though the rumor subsequently proved to be false and the boys were brought into her presence, she could not be rallied and death was the result of the shock.

THERE is hardly an article of American production, of apparently so little note, that has grown so rapidly in importance as the peanut. Instead of 1,000 there are fully 550,000 bushels sold annually in the city of New York alone. Previous to 1860, the total product of the United States did not amount to more than 150,000 bushels, and of this total, fully five-sixths were from North Carolina. Now North Carolina produces 125,000 bushels; Virginia 300,000 bushels; Tennessee 50,000 bushels; Georgia and South Carolina each 25,000 bushels; while from Africa come about 100,000 bushels a year.

WEBSTER failed only in one respect, and in this respect I differ from him—he wanted to be President, and I don't. But for that one misfortune he would have been the greatest man America ever produced. We have seen our greatest man, Mr. Chase, making the same blunder. I have seen men who had the disease early and died of it at a very old age. General Lewis Cass died at about eighty-two, and up to the day of his death he wanted to be President. No one ever escapes who once catches the disease; he lives and dies in the delusion. Being a reader and a close observer at an early age, I saw how it poisoned and paralyzed the very best of our public men, and I have carefully avoided it.—Horace Greeley. 1868.

AFTER an interval of two years (says the Pall Mall Gazette) the little town of Nanterre has once more witnessed the antiquated ceremony of crowning with a wreath of roses the best conducted girl of the district, who is also presented with a gold watch and a purse of £20, which last rewards create an alarming catalogue of jealous recriminations on the part of the Nanterre maidens who think they have equal pretensions to the trinket and money. The crowning with the "rosiere" is a very ancient custom, and the reward is furnished by the Municipal Council. Nanterre boasts also of a miraculous well, but it does not appear that the inhabitants are fervent in their belief in its virtue, as there are no fewer than two hundred wine shops in a town of 5,000 inhabitants.

THE eye disease with which Mr. Jefferson has been afflicted—but from which he is now recovering—is Glaucoma, an affection most destructive to the sight. He had been annoyed by its encroachments for several months, but it was not till lately that the trouble became acute, and the peril which it threatened was fully revealed. The operation, performed last Thursday has been attended with most beneficial results. It was effected on the left eye, and was endured by the patient with great constancy of courage and fortitude. The operating surgeon was Prof. Reuling of Baltimore—the physician in charge of the Maryland Eye and Ear Institute, in that city. Prof. Reuling expresses satisfaction with the condition of his patient, since the surgical process wrs tried, and anticipates a speedy recovery.

American Capital.

We see all about us the evidences that there is really no such scarcity of American capital as to warrant the use of foreign credits to the extent now seen. The prodigious sums invested in manufactures, mining, railroads, agriculture, buildings, &c., are overwhelmingly American. The foreign capital, of which so much is said is, at the outside estimate, not more than $2,000,000,000, while the aggregate wealth of the country is $30,000,000,000. How shall this American capital fill the place now assumed by the foreign credits? The process is not an imaginary one. It has been actually going on steadily. Let any one who doubts this look at the immense operations of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, a corporation altogether controlled by American capitalists, and that has completely defeated all attempts of foreign capital to get the control of the American railway system. There were two conspicuous attempts made at this; first, by the Atlantic and Great Western Company, under the auspices of Sir Morton Peto, and, second, by the Erie—both combinations owned abroad. Or, setting aside these cases, let any one call to mind the vast railway combination of which Cornelius Vanderbilt is the head, and in which foreign capital is of no account.

The fact is, that American capital since 1861 has become almost a new creation. Such enterprises as the Union and Central Pacific Railroads, the Kansas Pacific, Northern Pacific, and others that might be named, bespeak the existence of a bold and daring spirit that is backed by ample means. Railroad bonds sell in New England and the Middle States freely at all times. Nobody asks where the money is to come from; the money is asked for and it appears. And as for the banking enterprise, it has risen commensurately with all other interests. There are now private firms in Philadelphia and New York able to undertake the greatest fiscal schemes and to carry them through successfully. These firms have not the capital themselves to accommodate all these enterprises, but they have the confidence of thousands of customers who have the means and who trust in their judgment.

Now let us here suggest that of the money invested in merchantile business immense sums are lost. It is estimated that more than two thirds of all who engage in these pursuits fail sooner or later. Overtrading is one potent cause of this competition in many branches of business being excessive. What, then, is the sense of persuading American capitalists not to invest in corporate stocks and bonds when we see that investments in trade cost them so dearly? If the amount of money lost every year in trade were safely invested in good bonds, it would clear the American field of foreign capital in ten years.

We do not argue for these things as for some desideratum in the remote future. We speak of them as now in process of gradual but inevitable accomplishment. The struggle of American capital for the control of the home market is in all respects like that of American industry against foreign. New York believes in it quite as firmly as Philadelphia. When the movement commenced it seemed an endless task, but the progress already made is quite encouraging. The result can only be a question of time; success is certain, and when it comes, the very journals who now oppose the enterprise will be among the noisiest advocates of American capital.—Philadelphia North American.

The revenue is estimated at 2,288,461,671f, and the expenditure at 2,888,312,943f, being an increase of the expenditure of the present year of 55,553,735f. The deficit in 1873 will be 101,851,272f. The military expenditure is estimated at 440,000,000f, being an increase of 9,000,000f over the present year. Campaign Mottoes by Greeley.

"Grant and his policy deserve the very highest credit."—Horace Greeley.

"The people of the United States know General Grant—have known all about him since Donelson and Vicksburg; they do not know his slanderers, and do not care to know them."—Horace Greeley.

"While asserting the right of every Republican to his untrammeled choice of a candidate for next President until a nomination is made, I venture to suggest that General Grant will be far better qualified for that momentous trust in 1872 than he was in 1868."—Horace Greeley.

"We are led by whom who first taught our armies to conquer in the West, and subsequently in the East also. Richmond would not come to us until we sent Grant after it, and then it had to come. He has never yet been defeated and never will be. He will be as great and successful on the field of politics as on that of arms."—Horace Greeley.

"A Democratic national triumph means a restoration to power of those who deserted their seats in Congress and their places under the last Democratic President to plunge the country into the Red sea of secession and rebellion. Though you paint an inch thick, to this complexion you must come at last. The brain, the heart, the soul of the present Democratic party is the rebel element at the South, with its northern allies and sympathizers."—Horace Greeley.

Yes; Gen. Grant has failed to gratify some eager aspirations, and has thereby incurred some intense hatreds. These do not and will not fail, and his Administration will prove at least equally vital. We shall hear lamentation after lamentation over his failures from those whose wish is father to the thought; but the American people let them pass unheeded. Their strong arm bore him triumphantly through the war and into the White House, and they still uphold and sustain him; they never failed and never will.—Horace Greeley.

TOOMBS, of Georgia, does not seem to have accepted the results of the war to any alarming extent. He is proud to declare that "so far as the Government of the United States is concerned, he is still its enemy." We cannot but think he would feel delighted to see at the head of the Government a man who believes in the right of secession. When Robert comes to calmly consider the situation we fancy you will find him a good Greeley man.

BONDS Frankfort at 96½.

PETROLEUM at Antwerp 44f.

GOLD closed in New York yesterday at 113⅞@114.

HIESTER CLYMER, of Berks county, succeeds Wm. A. Wallace as chairman of the Democratic State Committee. Mr. Wallace has retired because he is not believed to be sufficiently sound on the Greeley question. We have no objection to the change. It swaps off a certain kind of political efficiency in making a canvass for deportment of the Turveydrop sort.

ST. LOUIS is rejoicing in the expectation of the erection of several blast furnaces this year and next, probably the most complete in the world, and equal in every respect to the great Laird furnaces in England. The yield from each furnace will be about seven hundred tons per week of good foundry iron. The extension of manufactures in the west is invariably followed by one result: It strengthens and encourages the friends of protection to American industry and correspondingly depresses and decreases the free traders. It not only marks industrial but political progress.

BETTING on elections is one of the political and social evils that afflict California. It has become a mania with the people, and of course its results not only work injury to the individual, but demoralize and corrupt politics. A man with a ten thousand dollar wager dependent on the count of the ballot box is not apt to be very conscientious as to the means he employs to get a desired result. The Legislature of the State, appreciating the evil, has declared betting on elections a public nuisance, as well as misdemeanor, punishable by a fine not exceeding five thousand dollars and imprisonment limited to five years. The objection to this is the severity of the penalty, which will probably make the law a dead letter.

THE CELEBRATION yesterday, in this city, by the colored people, of emancipation and enfranchisement, was a grand success in every way. The day was fine, the procession was creditable in point of numbers, display and enthusiasm and the proceedings at the Park were of a very agreeable and satisfactory character. The present generation cannot fully comprehend the vast benefits bestowed on the colored people of America, by the two acts commemorated in yesterday's holiday. The country will be wiser and better and stronger in consequence of them, and what patriot does not thank God that the stain and curse of slavery no longer rests upon free America? We rejoice with our colored friends over its final overthrow, well satisfied that our country was thereby released from a scourge, which sooner or later would have destroyed it. Emancipation and enfranchisement are the two great steps in the moral progress of the century, which shall, under the Providence of God, be hailed evermore as the proudest monuments of the human wisdom.

WM. CULLEN BRYANT, is one of the signers with Carl Schurz and Ex-Governor Cox, of Ohio, for the political conference to be held in New York to-morrow. His paper, the Evening Post, has this to say about the meeting:

"What the gentlemen who are to come together next week may say or do neither they nor we, nor anybody else can tell. But what they will not say and what they will not do, we can predict with entire confidence. They will not make their meeting a meeting for the ratification of the nominations at Cincinnati. Whatever else they may do they certainly will not do that, as the meeting is called with a purpose, whereas it would be called without one if those who signed the call could possibly reconcile themselves to what has been done at Cincinnati."

This certainly bodes no good to the Chappaqua philosopher. An attempt will be made in the first place to force him off the ticket or prevent his indorsement at Baltimore. Failing in that, they will look out for an independent nomination. We adhere to the opinion that Greeley will be indorsed at Baltimore, but appearances grow stronger every day that as a result the Presidential canvass will assume a triangular shape; which would be a great pity.

OWING to the lukewarm support of Horace Greeley promised by the Post, and its grimaces at the pill it is asked to swallow, the Greeley Democrats hereabouts intend starting a morning daily paper, we are informed. It will be uncompromising in its advocacy of —— Horace Greeley, and will furnish the public with weak essays on the virtues of the lately deceased Democratic party. The Post as usual, has been slow to take the "New Departure," and persists in remaining in its old ruts, while the rank and file of "pure Democracy" shout for "Ho-r-r-ace Graylee." We have not learned whether Col. "Benton" Kerr, Gen. Jim Irwin or M. McCullough, Esq., is to be the editor of the new "organ," but we are told that it will be conducted with all the vim and force of "old Hickory," and without regard to expense. Whether the Chappaqua sage and verdant vegitarian has promised to foot the bills we have not been informed; but as John Morrissey's faro table at Saratoga will soon be in full blast, frequent drafts upon its incomes will doubtless be honored in the interest of Tammany's candidate.

Poor Post; after years of patient waiting and expectancy, the golden sheaves are to be garnered by a youthful and impertinent rival, who cares little for the silvered locks and bent form of our "old Mortality." By the way, as we remember it, is this not ungrateful in Horace and his loyal friends (if he has any) to thus discard the services of a man who placed the ropes upon the lamp-posts in Pittsburgh in 1861, to hang such traitors as should dare to open their treasonable lips and desecrate the name of liberty?

Horace should know that this man now edits the "only Democratic daily" in Pittsburgh, and surely, for such services—although he now rejects the Liberal candidate—he is entitled to more consideration than he receives at the hands of the Tribune editor. The Post ought not to be thrown aside. Some time should be given it, in view of its past history, before it is expected to successfully accomplish the difficult feat of turning a double flip-flap blind-folded, and lighting right end up in the welcoming arms of a dyed-in-the-wool "Radical." It will yet come out all right we will vouch for that, and Horace Greeley—though once a despised "abolitionist" and a "blue-nosed Yankee," and a "Black Republican," and a "John Brown sympathiser," a "free-lover," a "fraud" and a "fanatic"—will yet receive the enthusiastic commendation of Pittsburgh's "only Democratic organ," as the candidate of Democracy. Hands off—give the Post a chance; form the ring, the performance is about to begin. Music by the band. Walk up James and William and Joseph, and "Old Mortality," sign.

GENEVA.

The contrast between the conduct of England and the United States Government, in the matter of the Alabama treaty, from the first step to the last, is a marked and significant one. The former, from the start, exhibited signs of opposition or fear of the result of friendly arbitration, while at the same time pretending to favor the plan of settlement proposed. All through the preliminary negotiations a halting, procrastinating disposition was manifested by England, which savored much of duplicity, if not of fear. On the contrary, our own country, through its Executive and officials, has illustrated its acknowledged character for frankness and honesty, and from the very first has proved the desire of its people to avoid war and submit all questions pending to peaceful and impartial arbitration, perfectly content to abide the result. Now, at the last moment, at the eleventh hour, as it were, when two continents are awaiting the result of the latest achievement of peace; after America has prepared and submitted her case to the judgment of the chosen commissioners; after the world has been told that the labors of the commission which is to decide the international dispute were about to begin, England cries out halt, postpone, delay the pending negotiations for almost another year, Albion is not yet ready. What does such hesitancy mean, unless it is dictated by fear? If England really desires arbitration, and is willing to assent to and abide by the result, why not go on at once with the judicial proceedings at Geneva? If she is really willing that all the differences which exist between herself and America, all the disputes, all the disagreeable and perplexing questions, all the claims and counter-claims which might ultimately lead to war if left unsettled, shall be submitted to peaceful arbitration, in the name of reason why does she delay, when it is known that her "case" has been fully prepared and ready to be submitted for judgment? If she is not willing to arbitrate all these matters, why trifle longer with her? Why not at once submit our case, and leave it with the court for their decision. England would then be compelled to submit or fight, and the responsibility would be wholly hers.

THE JESUITS IN GERMANY.

The movement in Germany against the Jesuits, we believe, had for its object originally the expulsion of the order from the empire, but this extreme measure has not been successful. A cable dispatch from Berlin announces that on Monday the Reichstag passed a bill depriving the members of the society of the rights of citizenship, by a vote of 183 to 101. What the precise effect of such a law will be we are unable to state, but presume it reaches to the right of the order to acquire property and withholds from the members all political privileges. The measure has not been pressed as one of religious opposition or persecution, but on political grounds, and as the answer of the imperial government to the excommunication by Catholic prelates of the followers of Doellinger and others who dissented from the conclusions of the Vatican Council. Still, it will be accepted, and is in fact, neither more or less than religious persecution whatever may be the motive that prompted it. The right of a church to excommunicate from its fold those who do not accept its faith is one that can hardly be gainsaid, and to our American way of thinking certainly affords no just ground for the withdrawal of political rights.

The effect of this proscriptive measure in Germany can hardly be estimated. Should the people repudiate the interference, the government, as the London Spectator observes, will run the terrible risk of compelling nearly one half the population of the empire to choose between its loyalty and religion, and this at a time when the two great Catholic powers of Europe, France and Austria, are willing and anxious, and only awaiting their opportunity, to strike a blow at German supremacy. It certainly involves dangers.

The story of the society of Jesus,—founded by Loyola, and confirmed by the Pope of Rome in 1540,—is one of the most remarkable in ecclesiastical history. It has passed through all gradations of power and vicissitudes of poverty and persecution. Its influence at one time has been supreme in all the Courts of Europe, while at another the order has been denounced by the universal voice of Christendom, and its members outcasts and wanderers.

In 1594 the Jesuits were expelled from France by Henry IV, but recalled again by the same monarch in 1603; in 1764 they were again suppressed by Louis XV; they afterwards obtained a partial toleration, but the revolution of 1830 banished them again "forever" from France. Under Napoleon III they obtained a foothold and the members and establishments of the society increased rapidly.

Queen Elizabeth expelled them from England, with the penalty of death to any who should return. Under James I they were tolerated as missionaries, but have never become numerous in England. One of their most celebrated colleges is at Stonyhurst, in Lancashire.

In all the European nations the Jesuits at one time or other obtained influential position, through the zeal of their missionaries. But the most determined and successful efforts made against them were from 1768 to 1773 when the courts of France, Spain, Naples, Austria, Portugal and Parma demanded of the Pope the entire suppression of the order. Very reluctantly in July, 1773, Clement XIV. issued his famous brief, by which the suppression of the society of Jesus was declared in all the States of Christendom. The members were allowed to enter other religious orders. Various attempts were made to restore the order under other names, but it was not until 1814 it regained its privileges by virtue of a bull issued by Pius VII.

In Prussia and other parts of Germany the order has been esteemed as educators, and since 1848 has been especially active in proselyting and increasing its establishments.

The United States and the British Provinces of North America are among the countries where the order has increased most rapidly. Their colleges in the United States, at Worcester, Mass., in New York city, at Georgetown, at Fordham, N. Y., at Mobile, St. Louis and Montreal, are among the most successful and thorough institutions of learning in the country. There are others, but these are the most noted.

The enterprise and zeal of the Jesuits in propagating and maintaining the Catholic faith by missionary expeditions and efficient educational institutions, is their distinguishing characteristic, and the constitution of the order is admirably adapted for this purpose. In the sixteenth century, under the lead of Xavier, the missionaries of the order penetrated India, Japan and China, and made many converts but their missions in these countries and other parts of the world, while temporarily prosperous do not seem to have possessed the elements of permanent success or usefulness. The objects of the society and the manner it seeks them out, raises questions of an ecclesiastical character on which we have no wish to enter. That place of dispute is fully occupied. The movement against the order in Germany, however, will undoubtedly cause a renewal of interest in its behalf in view of the fact that while its supporters are of the most zealous class, its opponents are uncompromising and bitter in their denunciation.

MORTON ON HENDRICKS.

Senator Morton is certainly one of the strongest and most effective political debaters in the country, but we do not recollect of reading anything from him quite so cutting and incisive as his speech before a Republican meeting at Greencastle, Indiana, on Saturday last. His review of the speech of Mr. Thomas A. Hendricks, accepting the Democratic nomination for Governor, fairly bristles with strong points, and gives some idea of the character of the canvass we may expect in Indiana this fall. Mr. Hendricks is entered against Senator Morton for the Senatorial race, and the contest is likely to approach in interest the historical canvass of Illinois by Abraham Lincoln and Stephen A. Douglas. This extract from Senator Morton's Greencastle speech, the first he has made since Hendricks' nomination, cuts to the marrow. Senator Morton said:

Mr. Hendricks, in his speech before the convention accepting the nomination for Governor, referred to me by saying that a vote for Gen. Grant was but a vote for Morton, Chandler, or Ben. Butler; that he was not afraid of a one man power, but was afraid of a band of irresponsible men. Now, when Mr. Hendricks says there is a dangerous ring surrounding the President, of which I am a member, he repeats the vulgar and idiotic slang of the day, which is intended to supply the place of fact and argument. If it was true, as he says, that a vote for Grant would be a vote for Morton, I must be allowed to suggest with becoming modesty that a vote for Morton has always been better for Indiana than a vote for Hendricks. Had Indiana voted for Hendricks in 1860, when he was first a candidate for Governor, it is not difficult to understand what would have been the consequences. Had he pursued the same course as Governor that he did as a leader of the Democratic party throughout the rebellion, Indiana would have been rent with civil war and drenched with fraternal blood. In escaping Hendricks as Governor in 1860, the State escaped a vast calamity, which would have extended to the nation. The defection of a single Northwestern State, through the action of the Executive, might have made a shipwreck of the Union. Now that the war is over, the debt of Indiana paid, and her credit fully restored, it is possible she might survive Mr. Hendricks as Governor for four years, but it is reasonably certain that such an experiment would have been fatal during the war. Humble as my political and official record was, I am quite willing to compare it with that of Mr. Hendricks. I was in favor of putting down the rebellion; he was not. I was in favor of using all the means to preserve the integrity of the Union; he was opposed to every war measure. I exerted whatever political or official influence I had to carry on the war; he cast the whole weight of his influence against the government. I do not remember a speech he made throughout the war in regard to it of which he would dare quote a single sentence, and what he now most desires, in taking leave of the principles he has advocated all his life, is to leave behind him his record, and cover the past with oblivion. If there be any act or speech of his which can be used as an argument for his election as Governor, I am ignorant of it, for he has now accepted a platform which sets the seal of condemnation upon his whole political career, and places him before the world as a penitent. Mr. Hendricks said that in case he was elected Governor he would maintain friendly relations with the Federal Government; but at the same time, all the rights or powers of the State, as guaranteed by the Constitution of the United States, must be respected. This was the language of menace or folly. It means that he would use the military power of the State to resist what he would regard as an infraction of the rights of the State, and after what the nation had passed through, would be criminal if not ridiculous. He speaks of the Government of the United States as if it were that of a foreign country with which he would maintain friendly relations as long as it did not invade the constitutional rights of the State of Indiana, of which, of course, he, as the Governor, would be the judge; but how he would break off "friendly relations" with the Government, or resist what he would consider a violation of States' rights or renew the rebellion, he does not say. The way for the Governor of a State to preserve friendly relations with the Federal Government is to yield obedience to the Constitution and laws of the United States according to his oath, and if he does not he will disturb those friendly relations as will anybody else who violates the law. If he talks thus in 1872, how would he have acted in 1862, when he condemned the action of this Government as unconstitutional and as usurpation. When Mr. Hendricks talks about preserving friendly relations with the Government of the United States, if elected Governor, he is but reproducing the absurd jargon of Southern Governors before the war.

MATTERS OF MOMENT.

THE aggregate munificence of Philadelphia—the philanthropic city—toward the relief of the Somerset sufferers, has reached the princely sum of $7,792.

A WAR in modern times is an expensive national luxury. The expenses of the Franco-German war—now that all the bills are in—have been found to aggregate $317,030,000.

THE English have a wholesome regard for Solomon's advice not to spare the rod. They especially apply it in the case of convicts, and last year 5,970 refractory criminals passed under it.

NEW YORKERS are talking of introducing the old penalty of the lash for criminals, all the other means of punishment for rogues having become useless—"rusted out"—through long disuse.

STRAUSS, the German composer, arrived in New York on Saturday, on his way to the Boston Jubilee. He was accorded a public reception which the N. Y. Advertiser thus pithily epitomizes: "The principal incidents of the occasion were speeches, music, tumultuous cheering, a plentiful supply of eatables and drinkables of the best quality, shaking hands, hugging, and a scene of uproarious pleasure and enjoyment."

AMONG the important bills passed by Congress is one allowing national banks to deposit United States notes and take out certificates of deposit, which they may hold as part of their bank reserve required by law, and use them at the clearing houses. The Treasury Department is now engaged in preparing these certificates, which will be payable to order on demand, and in the denomination of five and ten thousand.

THE following are the main points of the supplement just passed to the bankrupt law: The period during which bankrupts may be discharged upon payment of fifty per cent. of their indebtedness has been extended until the 1st of July, 1873. Life insurance policies to the amount of $5,000 are exempt from assets available for creditors, and all judgments obtained against persons or property before petitions in bankruptcy are filed, are to be first and fully satisfied.

MR. YOUNG, Chief of the Bureau of Statistics started for Europe last Saturday. He goes as a delegate from the United States to the International Statistical Congress at St. Petersburg, and proposes on the way to visit some of the principal manufacturing towns of England, Wales, Scotland, Belgium, part of France and Germany to gather statistics, in reference to the industries which compete with those of the United States. He proposes to ascertain the rates of wages, hours of labor, retail price of the principal articles of subsistence, cost of house rent, and such other statistical facts pertaining to labor as will enable him to prepare, on his return, a statement showing the relative cost and condition of labor in Europe and the United States.

WHY cannot Pittsburgh, like Jersey City solve the street cleaning problem by adopting a system which has been found in other cities to answer, in keeping the streets clean and at a much less expense than letting the work to contractors. In that city the Street Department owns horses and carts and employs men to do the work, and then by a careful use of the "cleanings" has reduced the net expenses so that they now amount to only 40 per cent. of the expense under the contract system. New York has recently adopted this new system, and within six weeks has saved $10,000 by filling in ground,—this sum covering the expense of the cleaning for that time. Contractors heretofore have grown rich by buying low ground and filling up with cleanings, and in many instances the city was fleeced by the grading of its own property in this way. Under the new order of things, however, the expense is less and the streets are really cleaner. But whatever method is adopted let us have clean streets.

FARM, GARDEN AND HOUSEHOLD.

TO CLEAR insects off roses take one pound of soap and mix it with seven gallons of hot rain water, stirring while hot till it is all dissolved. If one has a great number of roses he had better make a barrel full of the wash, using four pounds of soap. Wait until it is cool and the dregs settled, then apply it with the crook-necked syringe. If one application does not kill the whole brood, try it again in a few days.

EVERY MAN, owes it to the community in which he is living to contribute to the general reputation, and to the public enjoyment by making all his surroundings as attractive as possible. There is such a thing as paying too much attention to the outside and show, but there is reason in all things, and a measure of time and attention and expense should be devoted by every one to making his farm and his home more and more attractive every year that he lives.

THE St. Joseph Herald alludes to the experiments made with seeming good effect, in using boiling water and ashes for yellows in the peach, and remarks: We are safe in saying that the right direction has at last been reached in the investigation of this disease and its remedy. As yet the subject has not been exhausted, nor has certainty been reached in the eradication or cure of the evil. This, however, is certain, that the application of hot water and ashes has saved many trees.

IF I could always have the time to spare I would prefer to prune in the month of June for the following reasons: First, the wound made by the removal of a branch at this season will heal sooner than one made at any other season of the year. Second, very few sprouts will be much larger in consequence. Any person who is at all acquainted with the management of fruit trees, knows that if a tree is barked in June the wound will heal in a very short time. To prune in June, persons should wear rubber or other soft shoes, to prevent breaking the branches.

WE think it a wrong practice, when hauling out manure in the fall or winter, to place it in heaps. It is better to spread it at once. In the first place labor is saved. But most important of all is the fact that much of the manure is wasted when placed in heaps. If spread at once, it is more equally divided than it can be afterwards. We once hauled manure out on a field, leaving it in heaps until the hauling was complete. During this time some showers fell. The land was sown to oats next spring, and on the spots where the heaps had been, the grain lodged and was spoiled. The following crop was wheat, and on those spots the wheat rusted and yielded nothing; while the growth of straw was remarkable. We have never since tried the practice.

THERE has been some diversity of opinion as to the best time to cut wheat, judging from the common practice of farmers. It is generally cut when dead ripe, or at least when the grain has become hard. "This," says the Germantown Telegraph, "is no doubt an error, and one of more importance than many suppose. It should be remembered that wheat is composed of gluten, starch and bran. Gluten is the nourishing quality of the grain, makes the flour stick together in the hands of the baker, and gives weight to the grain—and there is the greatest quantity of gluten in the grain just when the straw is yellow two or three joints from the ground; the head turns downward, and you can mash a grain between your thumb and finger without producing any milk. It may therefore be set down as an indisputable truth that every day the wheat stands after this stage of its ripeness, the gluten increases in thickness."

A CORRESPONDENT of The Small Fruit Recorder says he has in his garden several bushes or trees which, for a number of years, had cumbered the ground, not bearing the value of a peck of fair fruit. This caused him to cease to put faith in quinces, and he had about made up his mind to lop them all away as rubbish, when, just at the opportune moment, "A neighbor called on me and stated that his had been in a similar condition until he took them in hand. First he trimmed out all dead and useless wood. He then hoed and cleaned away all the grass, etc., which tended to retard their growth, giving to them a thorough manuring with fresh horse manure, and from that time his trees had never failed to produce a full crop. I accordingly adopted his course to the letter, and so long as I continued this course, had an abundant supply of the finest quality."

THERE is no country where there is so much dyspepsia as in America, because our people pay so little attention to food, and eat too much meat for the exercise they take. If one has mental labor, fish every second day at least, is requisite. Soup sets all the glands at work, and prepares the stomach for the more important functions of digestion, and, therefore should be taken at dinner every day. Beef broth is to the old what milk is to the young. Cookery properly attended, keeps man in health. If the stomach is out of order, the brain is affected. We should eat more fruit, vegetables, soup and fish. Good and well prepared food beautifies the physique, the same as a good and well directed education beautifies the mind. Wrinkles are produced by the want of variety of food. The man who does not use his brain to select and prepare his food is not above the brutes, which take it in a raw state.—Home and Health.

AN intelligent and reliable farmer, who has been for many years making experiments with corn, has discovered an importance and value in replanted corn which is quite novel and worthy of publication. We have always thought replanted corn was of little consequence; he replants whether it is needed or not—or rather he plants two or three weeks after crops are planted about every fifteenth row each way. He says if the weather become dry during the filling time, the silk and tassal both become dry and dead. In this condition, if it should become seasonable, the silk revives and renews, but the tassal does not recover. Thus for want of pollen, the new silk is unable to fill the office for which it was designed. The pollen from the replanted corn is then ready to supply the silk, and the filling is completed. He says nearly all the abortive ears, so common to the corn crop, are caused by the want of pollen and that he has known ears to double their size in the second filling.

AS SOON as you have discovered that the horse is foundered, take him to the nearest branch or stream of water, and tie him standing in the water nearly up to his belly—his head being so high that he cannot drink. If the weather is warm, let him stand in the stream several hours; then take him out, rub his legs thoroughly to promote circulation, and again tie him in the water if he is still lame. By repeating this process two or three times, the horse will be effectually cured. If the weather is cold when the horse is foundered, the horse must not be allowed to stand in the water more than twenty minutes at a time; he should be taken out and his legs rubbed diligently till they become dry and warm and the circulation of the blood made active, and this process must be repeated till the horse is cured, which will be generally within twenty-four hours. This remedy will cost nothing, can do no possible harm, and will, in every instance, cure if the disease has not been of too long standing. Don't be afraid to try it.—Rural World.

Children's Clothing.

Nothing can be prettier for children's toilets than white, and nothing is more fashionable. White dresses for little girls are trimmed with needlework—some, made of pique, are very handsomely braided—and others, of Swiss, are elaborately made of puffs and bands of inserting and lace, and worn over tiny slips of blue or pink silk. Many of the toilets prepared for the little folks, who are expected to spend their summer at the watering places, are as costly and as elegantly made as though little miss was already setting out upon a heart-breaking tour, in which she was not to be eclipsed by the belles of maturer age. But while a beautiful child, beautifully dressed, is a pleasure to all eyes, mothers should not forget the comfort and happiness of their darlings. The dread of soiling a fine wardrobe is a serious detriment to youthful sport; and a child who is deprived of play lest it injure its clothes, is a real martyr to fashion. Therefore a plenty of plain, brown linen dresses, neatly braided with red or black, or without any trimmings whatever, and the tasteful little patterns in Scotch ginghams, should always be made a part of the little one's wardrobe.

The Cotton and Sugar Crops.

We extract the following concerning these interests from the New Orleans Price Current of June 8th:

The weather has been clear and warm, with occasional showers, and from every direction we receive favorable crop accounts. In fact, the entire aspect of the cotton-growing region presents a cheering prospect. The crop, nevertheless, is undoubtedly behindhand, and coming forward at least a week later than last year, it will be more exposed to worms and grass. On the other hand, the indications are that there will be an increase in the product, from hands having been transferred to rich lands from poor, and from some increase in white labor, although little or none in negro. There will also be an average increase in acreage of about eleven and one-third per cent. Viewing the whole field of observation, many are coming to the conclusion that for the present we may rest on 3,600,000 bales as the probable result, to be reduced or perhaps increased by the weather and contingencies of the year. The sugar accounts from some localities are more encouraging, but from others the reverse.

A Rose on an Apple Tree.

A young apple tree, bearing the Fameuse variety, in a garden in Burlington, Vermont, has indulged in a very remarkable freak this spring. A couple of weeks ago it blossomed as usual, and is now covered with apples the size of a hickory nut. On Monday the owner was surprised to observe upon the tree a large white blossom. The flower is entirely different from the regular apple tree blossoms, which have but five single petals. This has many rows of petals, and at the heart, instead of a bunch of yellow stamens like the apple blossoms, it has a knot of petals still unfolding resembling the petunia. It is three times the size of an ordinary apple blossom, and resembles a large "double" white rose. It is the only blossom upon the tree, and presents a very showy appearance.

Sickness of Forty Years' Duration Cured.

The cure related below is one of a very remarkable kind, on account of its long duration, and is well worthy of the attention of all those who may be afflicted with chronic disease of any kind, showing clearly that all such cases can be cured. It is that of Jacob Wagner, a respectable farmer, aged 63 years, of New Sewickley township, who has been in gradually failing health for a period of about forty years. The disease manifested itself by a continued cough and a wasting state of health, which, about the beginning of last October, culminated in an attack which showed that the lungs were becoming seriously affected. Mr. Wagner, in this state of his case, applied to Dr. Keyser, of this city, who, by a system of medicine of a restorative kind, has completely cured him and restored him to a state of health to which he has been a stranger for many long and weary years. His cure is thorough and complete, and evinces an amount of skill and perseverance in the treatment of such cases, by Dr. Keyser, which is rarely if ever attained in a life time. The cure was chiefly effected by Dr. Keyser's Lung Cure, and is another of the many instances of the wonderful restorative power of that medicine, in the cure of every disease of long standing, especially those in which the pulmonary organs and the blood are deteriorated.

Dr. Keyser's office is at 167 Liberty street, in the rear of his Drug Store, from 10 A. M. until 1 P. M., and from 3 until 6 P. M., and on Saturday's at night.

A treatise on Lung Diseases sent wherever it is wanted.

WHAT THE WEAK NEED.

Why do the debilitated and feeble dread the summer? It is because heat is an exhausting element, and they are not in a condition to bear the new drain upon their languid systems, which they think must necessarily commence with the warm weather. But cannot this evil be obviated? Most indubitably it can. What these weaklings need—in fact, what nine-tenths of us need at this season—is an accession of physical vigor, and this desideratum can be secured, with absolute certainty, by a course of the mightiest, yet mildest, of all vegetable tonics, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters.

Thousands of men of business, mechanics, professional men, break down, partially or wholly, under their summer labors, simply because they have neglected to reinforce the powers of nature in this way. To persons who use the celebrated invigorant and corrective regularly in hot weather, the exhaustion which excessive heat is apt to produce under other circumstances is unknown. They are not troubled with nausea, their appetites are good, their digestion excellent, and their habit of body all that can be desired. This for twenty years has been the uniform testimony of all who have taken the Bitters as a summer tonic and alterative. Its efficacy is due to the care and scrupulous teachings of experimental science, with which its medicinal ingredients have been culled from the vegetable kingdom, the admirable proportions in which they are combined and the unequalled purity of its stimulative basis.

INVESTMENT SECURITIES.
To all seeking investment, combining large profit with abundant security, we offer and recommend the first mortgage 7-30 Gold Bonds of the North Pacific Railroad Company.
They have thirty years to run, and bear interest at the rate of 7 3-10 per cent. in gold.
Many holders of 5-20's are exchanging them for Northern Pacifics, and thereby Increasing their Annual Income Nearly One-Third.
The highest current rate will be paid for all marketable securities received in exchange.
The Company is now offering for sale to settlers and colonies Three Million Acres if its Lands in Minnesota, and a large area on the Pacific coast will soon be placed on the Market. Many thousand acres have already been sold. The proceeds of land sales constitute a SINKING FUND for the First Mortgage Bonds, and the Bonds are at all times convertible at 1-10 into the Company's Lands at market prices.

DAILY GAZETTE.

FINANCE AND TRADE.

Office of the Pittsburgh Gazette, Tuesday, June 18, 1872.

The condition of local finances shows much the sameness that it has exhibited since the first of the month. The banks are healthy, and in most instances there is a continued increase in the volume of deposits, and as the summer advances all calculations betoken general ease and plenty throughout the country for the ensuing summer months. In New York money was offered yesterday on call as low as two per cent. This is down to the minimum rates it reached last year, and it will be a matter of little surprise to see, before the fall sets in, good paper, with four and six months to run, bring money in the eastern cities at as low a rate, or nearly so, as it is now offered for on call. This is what Secretary Boutwell has been aiming at, and that he is not far off the mark just now is a fact of which the daily telegrams from New York assure us. That he will strike the center, should he continue in office another year, is a fact that is no longer problematical. Continued ease in money matters is one of the things most needed here. With money at a rate not above six per cent. the year round, the wealth of Western Pennsylvania would quadruple within the next ten years, and no journey to Boston would be required to have a concert of hammers and anvils, as such music would be furnished here as a "free blow" all the time, and the diamonds gathered from the coal mines of this vicinity would show much more precious wealth than that belonging to "Boss" Tweed that the press just now is giving such a glowing account of.

From all sections there are received daily the most encouraging accounts of the growing grain and fruit crops. This good news is the harbinger of better times ahead for all classes of the population.

The general trade of this city keeps up surprisingly well. Orders for glass, iron, and Pittsburgh manufactures generally, continue to pour in, and it is doubtful whether the manufacturers will be able to secure enough time to take stock or make the necessary repairs to their machinery.

Erie railroad stock has taken another downfall, and to-day touched 52¾, which is a decline of seven dollars a share. This is a gambling stock, and men who want to venture had better buy Louisville lottery tickets or bet on faro, than to have anything to do with Erie. The spirit of Fisk was so much infused into it that it will require many days of penance on behalf of its managers before they get it out of purgatory.

The shipments of specie last week from New York amounted to $2,183,630.56, and yet gold still fluctuates between 113⅞ and 114. A sudden jump, at any time, of this commodity is a thing that should not surprise any one.

Local stocks show no new activity.

In real estate there is a continued activity, and in no locality is the venture more promising in regard to property, than here. Many fortunes have already been made by people who have the luck or foresight to put their dollars into Allegheny county soil, and many times the number that has already been made awaits those who do not hesitate now to go in for a full share of "what's a coming."

PITTSBURGH MARKETS.

Office of the Pittsburgh Gazette, Tuesday, June 18, 1872.

ASHES—Common Soda Ash, 4⅞@5c; Refined, 5⅜@6c; Nitrate Soda, 5c; Pots, 10c; Pearls, 11c.

APPLE BUTTER—Sales, in a jobbing way, at 65 to 70 per gallon for fair to prime, and 75 for choice.

BUTTER—The demand, as noted in our last report, is rather better, but there is no change in prices; sales at 10 to 15 cts for common to choice.

BROOM CORN—Is still reported dull but unchanged; small sales within the range of 5 to 8 cts.

BEANS—Sales, in a jobbing way, at $2,75 to $3,25 per bushel, as to quality.

CHEESE—Unchanged; sales at 11 to 12 for Dairy. 12½ to 13 for Factory, and 13½ to 14 for Goshen.

CONCENTRATED LYE—Sales of Penn'a, at $5,50 per case.

CANNED GOODS—Dull and almost out of season; however, the stock in this market is pretty well reduced, and prices are unchanged.

COUNTRY BACON—Shoulders, 4 to 5; clear sides, 6 to 6½; hams; 8 to 10. Country Lard, 7 to 8 cents.

CARBON OIL—Continues very dull, but there is no change in prices: 19½ to 20 cts by the car load, and 2@3 cts additional for smaller lots.

CEMENT—Louisville Cement, $2,50 to $2,75 per bbl; Calcined Plaster, $4 to $4,50; Land Plaster, $3,25 to $3,50; Cleveland Lime, $2; Eastern Lime, $1,75.

DRIED FRUIT—Peaches, 8½ to 9 for halves, 7½ to 8 for mixed, and 6 to 7 for quarters. Apples, 9 to 11 cts, as to quality. Blackberries, 13 to 15. pitted Cherries, 25 to 27 cts; unpitted, 6 to 8 cts.

EGGS—The market is pretty well supplied, but there is no quotable change in prices; sales reported at 15 to 16.

FLOUR—Is quiet but steady; there is a fair local trade. We continue to quote at $8,75 to $9,25 for fair to choice spring Wheat, and $9,50 to $10 for red winter wheat. Rye Flour, in a jobbing way, $6.

GRAIN—The grain market continues exceedingly dull and unsrtisfactory; dealers report that it is difficult to effect sales, and besides they are losing money on both corn and oats. There seems to be little or no demand for wheat, and the market is quiet and prices nominally unchanged; under the influence of recent advices from the west, the feeling is scarcely as strong as it was a few days ago. However, there is little or no stock in the hands of dealers, and there is no disposition to force the market, as the impression prevails that it will all be wanted before the new crop is ready to move. We continue to quote red at $1,95 to $2. Oats continue flat but hopes of an early reaction are anticipated; sales have been made within the past few days at 48 and 49 cts. but regular dealers generally, as yet, are unwilling to sell below 50. Shelled corn is dull but unchanged; sales at 63 on track and 65 free in elevator. Ear corn dull but unchanged at 60 to 62 for mixed to prime yellow. Rye is unchanged at $1,00 to 1,05. There are samples of new Tennessee barley in the market but as yet there have been no sales.

GROCERIES—Coffee: quiet but firm; the stocks are, for this season of the year, considered light in importer's hands and the outlook quite facorable to all owners. A feverish market is looked for momentarily, and another advance expected.

Sugar: New York is excited on account of the continuance of the strike, and refined advanced in that market to-day to 12¾ for A; 14 for granulated and crushed; 15 for powdered. Our quotations may be considered nominal, but it is safe to say that no A will be sold for less than 12½; and must in a few days command at least 13½ to 13½. Buyers should make a note of this and lay in a stock while prices are in their favor.

Syrups higher—Rice firm.

REFINED SUGARS.—Standard; Hards, 13½; A Coffee, 12¾; B, 12⅝; Ex C, 12½ C Yellow and Circle C, 12⅜.

COFFEE.—Rio—Choice, 27@27½; Prime, 26@26½; Good, 25½; Fair, 25. Roasted, pure, 29@30; lower grades, 27@28.

RAW SUGARS.—Choice New Orleans, 11@11½; Prime, 10¾; Good, 10; Fair, 9½. Choice Porto Rico, 10½; Prime, 10½. Demerara—Choice, 11¾; Good, 11¼.

NEW ORLEANS MOLASSES.—Choice, 80; Prime, 75; Good, 70; Fair, 65.

SYRUPS.—Fancy White Drips, 65; White Honey, 60; Havemeyer & Elder's, 53@55; other grades, from 40@50.

RICE.—Carolina—Choice, 9½; Prime, 9¼; Good, 9. Rangoon, 8@8½. Patna, 8½@9.

SPICES.—Grain Pepper, 24; do Pimento, 16; Cassia, 50; Cloves, 25; Nutmegs, $1,25.

HAY—There is rather more inquiry, and with continued light receipts, the market is if anything a shade firmer, though prices are not quotably better; however, the most of the stock is in the hands of regular dealers who have it stored, and they seem determined, for the present at least, to make no further concessions. We continue to quote at $23 to $28 per ton, as to quality.

HEMP—Kentucky rough at $130 per ton.

POTATOES—The market for old stock is dull and prices are so very irregular that it is difficult to give quotations. Sales in a jobbing way at 40 to 50 cts per bushel.

POULTRY—Live Chickens may be quoted at 75 to 85 cts per pair, by the coop.

PROVISIONS—Plain shoulders, 6cts; sugar cured do, 8cts; ribbed sides, 8 cts; clear rib, 8½cts; clear, 9 cts. Breakfast Bacon, 10½@11cts; plain sugar cured hams, 12½; do, canvased, 12½. Lard; in tierces, 9¾; in kegs, 10¾; in buckets, 11¼. Mess Pork, 14½. Dried Beef, 17½. Ham sausage, 10.

RAGS—Sales at 4@4½cts per lb.

SALT—Quoted at $1,85 per barrel by the car load, and $2 in a jobbing way.

SEEDS—Flax Seed may be quoted at $1,95 to $2 per bushel, and receipts continue very small.

TALLOW—Rendered 7½ to 8 cts.

WILLOWS—Offerings light; sales in a small way at 10 cts.

WHISKY—Highwines unchanged at 90 to 91 cts in job lots.

PETROLEUM MARKET.

Office of Pittsburgh Gazette, Tuesday, June 18, 1872.

The market continues quiet and presents but little that is really new or important. Crude at Parker is quoted at $3,85 in small, and $3,87½ in large lots with sales at quotations. Refined is steady but unchanged at 22¾ spot or June, and 23 for July.

Oil barrels more active but with continued liberal receipts, the supply is fully up to the demand, and prices are maintained; we continue to quote city barrels at $1,82½ to $1,85, and country barrels 8 to 10 cts less.

Foreign Markets.

London, June 18—5 P. M.—Consols: money, 92⅜; account, 92½. American securities dull; 5-20s '62, 91; 5-20s '65, 91⅞; 5-20s '67, 91⅝; 10-40s 89⅛.

Dry Goods.

New York, June 18.—There has been very little business done to-day, merchants being chiefly engaged in their semi-annual stock taking, which is to be completed by the close of this month. Values are somewhat unsettled, especially in bleached fabrics, which show a little more weakness and appear likely to meet revision at an early day. Printing cloths firm at 8¾@8½c. for full 64x64 on spot, and to be made. Prints quiet, with light effects weak and easier; dark work is held back by agents for higher prices; woolen goods remain quiet; there is little speculation in heavy goods, but there is not enough doing to establish a market.

Live Stock.

Buffalo, June 18.—Cattle: receipts to-day 1,190, making the total supply for the week 5,168, or 304 cars, against 286 last week. A Comfortable Home

Is a thing desired by all, but how and where to get the articles to make them so may not be known by all. For the benefit of those ignorant of this, we recommend them to the firm of Messrs. Bovard, Rose & Co., carpet dealers, 21 Fifth avenue, where they will find a stock that will greatly aid in giving the comfort so desirable in every home. Without the use of some of the fine styles of in-grains, best two and three tapistry and body Brussels shades, rugs, mats, &c., such as the above firm keep constantly on hand, it is impossible to procure comfortable homes. It is wonderful how far a good carpet goes in beautifying and furnishing a room. For the benefit of those suffering for want of goods in the above line, we repeat the name of Bovard, Rose & Co., 21 Fifth avenue.

Attempted Burglary

Early yesterday morning burglars entered the house of William Berry, a saloon keeper, at the corner of Fourth and Carson streets. The thieves were discovered however, by the watchman in Knox's glass house, who saw a light moving about the house and gave the alarm. The light was immediately extinguished and two persons were seen to leave the house. Mr. Berry accompanied by two officers gave chase, and soon succeeded in capturing them. They were found to be Ambrose Whaler and Wm. C. Crannever, parties who are well known. Several bottles of liquor were found in their possession, and it is supposed that they had time to take nothing else. They were locked up in the Central Station house, and afterwards given a hearing before Justice Barker, when they were committed to jail for Court.

Coroner's Inquest.

The inquest on the body of David Davis, who, it will be remembered, received injuries on last Friday by a collision on the Pan Handle Railroad, from which he died on last Sunday, was continued yesterday afternoon, when after the remainder of the testimony was heard, the following verdict was rendered:

The deceased, David Davis, came to his death on the morning of June 16th, from injuries received by the collision of two freight trains on the Pan Handle Railroad, near the entrance of Cock's Run tunnel, on the evening of the previous Friday. We further find that the accident was the fault of criminal negligence on the part of some person or persons, unknown to the jury, who were blasting in the tunnel, or the engineer of the first section of coal train, No. 33, making the accident entirely unavoidable as far as any of the attaches of either of the colliding engines or trains were concerned.

Obituary.

We record with feelings of sadness this morning the death of Mrs. Lida J, wife of Rev. Dr. S. H. Nesbitt, which occurred yesterday at the family residence, Allegheny city. The deceased was a lady of very superior mental and moral excellence, dearly beloved in the home circle and universally esteemed in the social walks of life. Her unfailing cheerfulness, and remarkable sweetness of disposition, her ever ready sympathy and help for the suffering, her finely cultured intellect, and zealous but unostentatious piety combined to form a character in every way worthy of the love and esteem with which she was regarded. Living, her life was filled with usefulness, and dying she has left behind an example of cultured Christian womanhood, which to those who knew her, will ever be surrounded by the fragrance that clusters around the most cherished memories.

We tender sincerest sympathy to Dr. Nesbitt in the great grief which has fallen upon him, and in doing so but give expression to the genuine feeling of every friend.

The funeral services over the remains of the deceased will be held this afternoon at two o'clock in the Arch street M. E. Church, Allegheny.

Music in the Public Schools.

The subject of music in the public schools seems to be attracting considerable attention. At a meeting held on Monday evening in the Soho school house, the following resolutions were unanimously adopted:

Having listened with much satisfaction and pleasure to the examination of the pupils of this school in the theory and practice of vocal music, as conducted this evening by Professor Slack, in order to give expression to our feelings and views, we do hereby propose the following resolutions:

Resolved, That we have every confidence in Professor Slack as an able and efficient teacher of music, the examination this evening satisfying us of the thoroughness of the training he gives the children in the science of music.

Resolved, That we deem the teaching of the rudiments and practice of vocal music in our public schools as indispensible to the proper education of our children as being calculated to call into exercise the finer and more ennobling feelings of their nature, and fitting them for the exercise of religious worship as also a source of pleasant social enjoyment.

Resolved, That we have heard with sorrow and regret that an effort has been made by some members of the Central Board of Education to discontinue the employment of music teachers in the public schools.

Resolved, That we request the delegate from this District to use all honorable means in his power to have the teaching of music in the public schools continued as heretofore.

Resolved, That we return our thanks to the Allegheny Quartette for the many favors they have conferred upon us by enlivening our gatherings with their beautiful songs.

Common Sense and Common Prudence.

In New York and Philadelphia "Safe Deposit Banks" have been established and proved in each city a complete success. Thousands of the citizens at once availed themselves of the absolute security from fire and from burglars, which these banks, and these alone, afford for the safe keeping of every kind of valuables, such as money, bonds, deeds, wills, written articles of agreement, life and other insurance policies, jewelry, plate, and every precious thing that is portable. Why is it that the Safe Deposit Bank of Pittsburgh is less patronized than those in the East? It is equal to any in the United States, the building itself and its vaults are unsurpassed for permanence and strength. The Directors are among our most trustworthy and respectable citizens, its police by day and by night is as strong and as faithful as could be desired, and the mechanical structure of the building and vaults is such that if the watchmen could be overcome and the premises left unguarded, no outside mob could penetrate; they may be said to be practically impregnable. Here then is a depository as absolutely safe as human genius can make it, and yet our people, many of them at least, seem not to know of it, or to save the petty fee charged, keep their valuable at home or deposit them in some insecure place where they become the prey of fire, of midnight burglary, or of daylight thefts. The robbery of a bank safe in Birmingham the other day of $23,000 worth of bonds, is only one of a thousand proofs that common sense and common prudence alike dictate that the Safe Deposit Bank is the only place that such deposits can be placed to secure them against all dangers and contingencies. If the $11,000 lost by Frederick Douglass by the burning of his house had been in our Safe Deposit Bank the whole city might have burned around it and it would have been untouched. Think of this, reader, and lock your stables before the horse be stolen.

THE JUBILEE.

Colored Citizens in Line.

THEIR GALA DAY.

Yesterday's Emancipation Celebration—An Orderly Gathering—Friendship Grove Crowded—The Speeches—A Pleasant Time.

The origin of the idea of commemoration day, is as ancient as the creation of the earth on which we live. When the great Creator had made the world and all that live there in, he rested on the seventh day, and in commemoration of that rest made the Sabbath.

In these later days, and in our own county, we have written our national history on the tablets of our public holidays. The Fourth of July and Washington's birthday, taken as examples, will tell as much of our national history as any written statement of its origin and doings can [illegible] umstances it is [illegible] r colored friends [illegible] their emancipa- [illegible] he proclamation giving pardon to the slaves was issued in the winter months, as also was the amendment to the Constitution confirmed, which gives to our colored brethren the rights of citizenship. The celebration of these two events could not well take place in winter, as all out-door exercises are at that time surrounded with the difficulties associated with the season.

THE PROCESSION.

Yesterday our colored friends celebrated their release from bondage, and their being made citizens of this Republic. It was manifestly right that such a day should be observed. God's glorious sun shone down upon Mother Earth with its brightest rays—fit emblem of the introduction of our colored citizens into the glorious light of liberty. Our Fourth of July reminds us of the inauguration of this great Republic; our other public holidays—such as Washington's birthday—all have national significance; and this celebration, whether it be fixed on the day which should be celebrated or not, is a memento of one of the most glorious transactions of which the government of this country can boast.

The principal display of the celebration was the procession, which presented a very creditable appearance. The procession was headed by a squad of police, followed by the colored folks on foot, on horseback or in carriages. They were all neatly and tastefully attired, and the procession marched with a quiet and order that reflected upon them great credit. The procession moved in the following order: Policemen, carriages, Avery Guards, horsemen, and the Sewickly delegation. Several bands were interspersed throughout the procession and enlivened the affair with patriotic airs. After marching through the principal streets the procession repaired to Friendship Grove.

AT THE GROVE.

The procession, composed of the military representatives of the race in our midst, and the civilians on foot and in carriages arrived at the grove about two o'clock. It was evident, even at that time, that the general interest in the demonstration would lead to a full attendance. From the time the procession arrived at the place designated for the pic nic until the early hours of the evening, a continuous stream of buggies, carriages, &c., passed through the various gates and their occupants having alighted joined in the general search for pleasure. To attempt to describe the manner in which our colored friends enjoyed themselves would be a difficult task. Here a group—male and female entered into the giddy mazes of the dance, some sweet voiced females making music for them by singing popular dancing music—in another place the swings and round abouts were liberally patronised, while in yet a third a large company would enjoy some old fashioned game in which the greatest interest was exhibited. Everybody seemed to be good humored. No noise or confusion occurred, no fighting or quarreling, but everything exhibited the peaceable and law abiding characteristics of the colored race.

About one-quarter past three o'clock the Washington Cornet Band marched to the platform, followed by many of those present. The band took up a position on the platform, and after it had finished playing, a meeting was organized by Thomas J. Gatewood calling the assemblage to order. He nominated as the officers of the day the following gentlemen:

President of the day—Rev. John Peck.

Grand Chaplain—Rev. J. W. Terry.

Vice Presidents—H. Anderson, A. D. Johnson, Moses Howard, A. B. Lloyd, Father Wheiz, H. W. Jones, Frederick Wilson, F. J. Harris, Jos. Mahoney, J. C. Harris, P. Boncombe, L. B. Smith, Wm. Peterson, Samuel Delaney, John Gaither, J. Granderson, Samuel Wilkinson, Sr., Wesley Johnson, Daniel Jackson, Oliver Adams, Barney Thornton, John Howard, Wm. S. Barnes, Alex. Saunders, Peter Ross, David Kelley, Wm. Fleming, Chas. Manoney, Otho Snyder, Major Burnell, H. Hyanes, N. A. Clowes.

Orator of the day—Prof. S. A. Neale.

Secretaries—John H. Jones, Edward H. Butler, M. S. Barker, Emmitt Smith.

Speakers—Josiah King, Esq., Hon. J. L. Graham, Hon. M. Humphreys, Rev. A. M. Milligan, Rev. J. R. W. Sloan, D.D., Jacob C. Brown, James Jones, Esq., Rev. D. E. Asbury, Rev. D. B. Matthews, Rev. W. H. Hunter, D. L. Atwood, Esq., Rev. L. Johnson, Rev. C. Asbury, H. Anderson, A. E. Rice, G. W. Galloway, J. Loudin, Lewis F. Woodson, Rev. Albert Priel, Rev. N. Rickwood.

The chaplain then read the grand old hymn "Before Jehovah's awful throne," which was well sung by the assembled multitude.

The President, the Rev. John Peck then delivered a very sensible and interesting address, which was followed by the speech of the orator of the day, Professor S. A. Neale, who said.

PROFESSOR NEALE'S ADDRESS.

Fellow Citizens:—"The Almighty Finger that moves on the dial-plate of time, has moved also on the souls of men." Ten years ago we were slaves. The glorious sun, each morning, rose in its place in the heavens and set on a race of slaves. Slaves to suffering; slaves to toil; slaves, subject to such dehumanizing influences, that the primal foundation of manhood was well nigh crushed out of us. To-day we are free: "free as our mountain torrents that leap our hills and plough our valleys without asking leave." We are free; but O! how dear—bought was our freedom. The lives of a half million soldiers, white and colored, were sacrificed in its purchase, and their blood was sprinkled over the plains of the South like rain. Oh God! that the redemption of man, must come through blood. That the blood of the Lamb of God, which flowed on Mount Calvary, to atone for the sin of the world, while it was the very blood of Jesus, the Savior, it was also typical of the blood which must flow from human victims, at each consummation of a cycle in the passing centuries, to lift the world to a higher plane—lift it nearer to God.

The immortal Lincoln felt and gave utterance to this truth—that man's redemption from slavery must come through blood—though he knew not that he would be one of the victims in the expiatory sacrifice. Those solemn words of his still sound in our ears like the thrilling symphony of angelic music. "Yet if God wills that the war continue until all the wealth piled by the bondmen's two hundred and fifty years of unrequited toil shall be sunk, and until every drop of blood drawn with the lash shall be paid by another drawn with the sword, as was said three thousand years ago, so still it must be said: 'The judgments of the Lord are true and righteous altogether.'"

It is eminently fit and proper, then, that we, who through the Providence of God, were released from a servitude more galling and bitter than any that was ever known in the history of mankind, should assemble, at least one day in the year, and rejoice in the fullness of our gratitude over our deliverance. For we of the North were also slaves in everything but the name.

Then, come nearer to me, O ye men and women of our race, whose feet have trodden the path the oppressor made for you; whose hands have been manacled; whose blood, and sweat, and toil have enriched those who enslaved you;—come nearer, that I may look into your eyes and see the sparkle of joy that lights them up in the consciousness of our complete freedom. We shall hear no more the crack of the slave driver's whip, forcing us to fields of unrequited toil. We shall hear no more the bay of the blood-hound, pursuing with his deadly and unerring instinct the panting fugitive, as he drags his weary limbs, guided by the North star, to a land of freedom. No! thank God, we shall hear those sounds and see those piteous sights no more.

"For in the unceasing progress of the world,
A wiser spirit was at watch for us;
A better eye than ours"

Led us through the red sea of danger and desolation and planted our feet upon the rock of liberty, regulated by law.

The chosen instrumentality, through and by which this change in our condition was effected, was the Republican party. Those great men who helped to organize it, whose regnant manhood and sacred devotion to God-like principles, rendered them worthy to be the prophets and hierophants in the great temple of human rights, have been tempted and seduced by the glittering bauble of ambition. Better for them had they taken to heart the lesson taught by the downfall of the illustrious men of past and contemporaneous history. Better, had they remembered the terrible lesson taught by the fate Lucifer and his mighty hosts:

"For in striving to be God the angels fell;
In striving to be angels, men rebel;
And he who wishes to invert the laws
Of order, sins against the eternal cause."

One of those great men whose name even now causes the blood in our veins to thrill with feelings of undying gratitude, whose great heart and mind, and matchless eloquence, are still devoted to the self-imposed task of elevating and enlarging the privileges of our race, seems recently to have made a mistake which may take years of his noble life to rectify. Yet we regard him with such feelings of human adoration that each of us is ready to say of him, as the love-stricken poet said of his heart's idol:

I know not, I ask not, if guilt's in thy heart,
I but know that I love thee whatever thou art.

O friends! let us pray, that Charles Sumner's "sun may not go down, while it is yet noon;" that a reconciliation may take place between him and our venerated hero President; and that those other great men, whose names were once the synonyms for liberty—I mean Horace Greeley and Carl Schurz—and all others who have wandered from the household of the faithful, may return again to their early love. O! all ye blessed martyrs to the cause of liberty, who through fields of blood went up to heaven. O, Lincoln, Toussaint Le O'Euvertuer, Vincent Oge and John Brown, turn, if you can, the heavenly gates ajar, and let those brothers of our fallen race see what that ineffable joy, what a crown of reward awaits those who like the steadfast pole star, never once depart from right and duty.

We stand to-day, fellow-citizens, upon high vantage ground. The noon-tide of freedom surrounds us like a halo of glory; and while our hearts are swelling with thankfulness towards those who broke our chains, let us not forget the past nor the lesson it teaches. Let us remember that if we would gain the respect and esteem of those among whom our lot is cast, we must be true to ourselves. We must cultivate a spirit of union and help each other along the pathway of life. Let us avoid every element in our social surroundings that may tend to disassociate us. We must stand or fall together. A decided spirit of clannishness prevails among our white fellow-citizens. They hold each other up. This is commendable, and we must meet clannishness with clannishness, by striving to promote each other's interest and holding up the hands of our fellow men in the conflicts of life. Let us "remember those who are in bonds as bound with them." This is a text of scripture, which years ago, formed the burden of our appeals to the slave holders. Let us apply it to ourselves and square our lives by its God-like teachings. Above all let us try to obtain a good name. "A good name is rather to be chosen than great riches." It is a Kingly title. Nay! it is more! It is the royal impress of the Eternal, upon His handiwork. We should remember that public opinion is stronger than law, and that without a good name, all statutory enactments, all civil rights bills will be of no practical value to us.

And now, friends, if the sentiment I have just uttered has found a responsive echo in your hearts, are you prepared to declare, here under the blue canopy of Heaven, in the presence of God, that you and each of us, will strive to acquire a good name? A good name for sobriety, for honesty, for industry, for truth, for right-doing? What say you?

Then as you gather round your hearthstones, meditating upon the scenes and incidents of this day of jubilee, treasure this great truth in your minds and remember that it was the key note of my brief address: That the highest aspiration of every true man and woman is for a good name. Its possession will give you power and it will be a priceless heritage to your children.

At the conclusion of the Professor's speech the Rev. Mr. Milligan delivered an address. He was followed by Mr. A. A. Rice (colored) whose address was both eloquent and instructive.

The meeting having been adjourned the assembled hundreds commenced to dispense and by 8 o'clock the grove was nearly deserted.

The entire celebration was one of the most enjoyable ever held in this city and reflects the greatest credit upon our colored citizens. There has seldom been a pic-nic in this city at which such thorough good order has been preserved. Several extra police men were detailed by the Mayor to be present, but their services were not required through the entire afternoon and evening.

EAST BIRMINGHAM COUNCIL.

Special Meeting.

The East Birmingham Council last evening held a special meeting, to consider unfinished business. Present: Messrs. Brown, Hahn, Haberman, Fox, Felker, Kemler, Thornton, Miller, Fischer, Eitemiller and Burgess Dressel, in the Chair.

An ordinance levying a business tax was read article by article, and thus adopted and finally passed.

Mr. Eitemiller, of the Street Committee, reported the following: That the Railway Company has assured the committee that they would have Josephine put in as good order when the second track is finished, as it was before the track was commenced.

They recommended the paving of Twenty-second street; also construction of a sewer on Twenty-first street, and the extension of the Twentieth street sewer to Josephine street. Mr. Keeling, whose coal cars run down Twenty-first street, promised to run the cars so as not to interfere with travel nor dangerous to life. They recommend the suitable covering or filling up of a dangerous well on 26th street.

They recommend that action be taken by council to prohibit all persons from leaving wagons and other vehicles standing on the streets and alleys of the borough when not in actual use, and that some limit be placed upon persons using the public streets and alleys of the borough for depositing thereon building material.

The report was accepted and filed.

The clause referring to the paving of Twenty-second street was approved and the paving of that street ordered.

Ordinances were ordered for the construction of of a sewer on Twenty-first street, and for the extension of the Twentieth street sewer.

The Street Committee was instructed to act in regard to limiting the space of a street or alley for placing building material thereon.

An ordinance authorizing Messrs. Cunningham and Ihmsen to construct a railroad siding from the P. V. & C. Railroad track from Twenty-fifth to Twenty-seventh streets, on Mary street, was read and passed finally.

An ordinance for the paving of Merriman's alley, from Nineteenth to Twentieth streets, passed.

An ordinance granting Messrs. A. H. Banman & Co. the right to construct a siding from the P. V. & C. Railroad track to their works on Josephine street, corner of Eighteenth street, was passed.

An ordinance authorizing the impounding of hogs running at large within the borough, was passed.

An ordinance regulating the erection of sign posts and boards on the sidewalks was passed.

An ordinance for a lateral pipe sewer of fifteen inches diameter on Jane street, from Twentieth street sewer to a point east on Jane street was passed.

BIRMINGHAM COUNCIL.

Regular Monthly Meeting.

Councils called to order at eight o'clock, following members being present.

Messrs. Kerr, Conway, Doyle, Duncan, Ward, Miller, and Burgess, Salisbury.

On motion of Mr. Kerr the reading of the minutes of the last meeting was postponed.

The report of the Street Committee was called for, and Mr. Kerr stated that the grading of Eleventh and Eighth streets were the ones to be considered principally.

Mr. Doyle stated the Street Committee was in favor adopting the plan of Eight street, as proposed in the plan of the Street Regulator.

On motion of Mr. Doyle, the plan of the Regulator for the improvement of Eight street and Spruce alley was adopted.

Mr. Patterson, the street regulator, explained the proposed plan for the improvement of Eighth street and Spruce alley. He thought the grade would be very convenient to all persons living on Eighth street, but not to those living on Manor street, because they would have to cross a stone wall.

Mr. Kerr moved that the Solicitor be instructed to draw up an ordinance corresponding to the plan of the Regulator. Carried.

Mr. Doyle moved that the matter of the building a stone wall on Manor street be referred to the Street Committee. Carried.

A petition from the citizens of Washington street, asking Council to grade and pave Washington street, between Eighth and Ninth streets, was read. Referred to the Street Committee.

The Burgess read a communication from the Clerk of Select Council of Pittsburgh, informing the Burgess of the Apportionment Committee on the division of wards, and asking him to make his appointments.

Mr. Doyle moved that the Burgess appoint two citizens on apportionment from Birmingham. Carried.

Mr. Ward urged the necessity of paving the Diamond.

On motion, the Burgess proceeded to open and read the sealed proposals for the grading, paving and curbing of Market square. Four bids were received.

Mr. Patterson gave it as his opinion that the Hemlock pavement is superior to the pine.

Dr. Kerr favored the "Stow" pavement, as it was set in gravel instead of upon wood.

Mr. Doyle thought that the locust pavement would soon contain ruts as cobble stones, by wearing down the edges.

Mr. Doyle moved to adopt the "Stow" pavement.

Mr. Duncan moved to amend by inserting the locust pavement.

The amendment was lost, and the original motion adopting the "Stow" pavement was carried.

Mr. Kerr moved that the contract be awarded to Mr. Richard S. Robertson for paving the market square. Carried.

By the contract it is agreed to pave the market house square with the "Stow Foundation" pavement, at the rate of $3 per square yard, bonds of the Borough to be taken in payment for the entire amount.

The question of the right of a person to transfer his market stall was discussed, occasioned by a butcher who had rented a stall from the Council and afterwards assigned it to another person.

Mr. Kerr moved the matter be referred to the Solicitor for his opinion. Carried.

The Street Regular, Mr. Patterson, presented the plan of the wharf.

Mr. Doyle moved that a committee of five be appointed to notify property holders who were interested in the proposed new wharf. Carried.

On motion adjourned.

READING FOR THE PRIZE.

The Elocutionary Contest at the Pittsburgh Female College Last Night—The Programme and the Result.

Last evening was taken up at the Pittsburgh Female College with the Annual Reading contest, which has come to be regarded as among the most enjoyable of the entertainments that are peculiar to the closing of the school year. The College Chapel is the rendezvous for the friends of the contestants and all who are interested in the occasion. In this instance it was comfortably filled with a fine audience, and—judging from the attention bestowed upon each performance—an appreciation audience too. The young ladies, thirteen in number, found accommodations upon the platform, which was rendered still further attractive, by a very large boquet or pyramid of brilliant, fresh and fragrant flowers, that rested upon the center table, and diffused a pleasant perfume through the room.

The exercises, preliminary to the regular programme began about eight o'clock, when Mrs. Blessner and Miss Ernwein led off with a spirited "Grand March;" The Rev. Mr. Vernon pastor of Christ M. E. Church then led in prayer. The Misses E. Campbell and Miss F. Darrah performed an instrumental duett, and Miss Emma arwhill—not a contestant—at the request of the other performers "broke the ice" by reading a selection in a very creditable manner; the regular programme was then taken up and gone through with in the order that follows,—the musical exercises being under the direction of Prof. Blessner and Miss Brewster.

"John Maynard," Miss Amy Knox; "Katie Lee and Willie Gray," Miss Eva Hays; "Clerical Wit," Miss Kittie Martin; Song—"Tempest of the Heart," Miss C. Reimensneider; "The Angels of Buena Vista," Miss Jennie Brady; "Grandfathers Pet," Miss L. McMasters; "Independance Bell," Miss Ida Robinson; Vocal Duett—"Sister Elves," Misses Brewster and Purvlance; "Simon Dole," Miss Hettie McCutcheon. "The Kiss in School," Miss Anna Robinson; Song—"Take Back the Ring," Miss Sue Andrews: "The Two Church Builders," Miss Mary Hays; "Truth in Parenthesis," Miss Mary Meredith: "The Famine," Miss Hettie Hasbrouck; —Trio "Distant Chimes," Miss M. Unger, Miss F. Rice and Miss A. Sherry; "The Old Sergeant," Miss Mary Pershing; "Hezekiah Bedott," Miss Ella Craig.

The Judges, Rev. Dr. Douglas, Prof. Alex. Cowley and Prof. Hull, now retired, and during their absence the audience found entertainment in a couple of songs—"Beware," and "Annie Laurie," by Miss Kate Brewster [who never gave better evidence of her superb vocal powers], and an instrumental duett by Mrs. Blessner and Miss Nettie Brown. A short interval, after these performances, was afforded the waiting people, to reflect upon the relative merits of the fair elocutionists and to perhaps gently criticise among themselves. We doubt not if they had been privileged to speak out, and had been desirous of brushing aside the false glamour which the prejudices of friends too often throw around such exercises, that the general sentiment would have been somewhat against the length of the selections, in some instances, and the want of a thorough appreciation of the reading in others. It was a fact, that generally the performers paid rather too much attention to the merely artificial elocutionary aids, and forgot that the supreme excellence of all good reading is naturalness. Nevertheless, while there was evidence of this artificial over-drilling, the readers generally displayed more than average ability, and in some instances dramatic force, that could not but have pleased the most captious critic.

The judges finally returned—after quite a prolonged retirement—when Dr. Douglass in a brief but witty speech announced that they had decided in favor of the sixth performer, Miss Ida Robinson of Allegheny. The announcement was received with applause, and after it had subsided the Reverend gentleman presented the prize—a silver goblet—to the successful contestant.

Dr. Pershing then announced the Commencement exercises for to-night—the essays of the graduating class and the address by the Rev. Dr. I. N. Baird—after which the audience dispersed.

COUNTY EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE.

Meeting Yesterday.

A regular meeting of the Allegheny County Executive Committee was held yesterday afternoon at the Lincoln Club rooms, Dr. Gross in the chair.

Reports of progress were heard from several sub-committees, and a bill for music at the late Morton reception having been presented, on motion of Mr. Christy the Finance Committee was requested to organize and report.

A motion was made to refer to the finance committee and an amendment that it be referred to the committee on organization.

Mr. Geo. T. Oliver made a statement in regard to the propriety and expediency of the expenditure, and as a difference of opinion existed in regard to the matter, at his suggestion, the resolution was laid over until next meeting.

Dr. Gilmore from the Special Committee on place of meeting and wigwam, made a partial report, and asked an addition to the committee.

The chair appointed the following as additional members of the committee: Messrs. B. F. Kennedy, B. K. Waughter, Wm. H. Brown, James McBrier.

Gen. Pearson moved that the company be instructed to limit the outlay for place of meeting to $500, which was carried.

Gen. Pearson learning that he had been appointed Chairman of Committee on Soldiers and Sailors Convention, asked to be excused, stating that he would be absent from the city for some time during the summer.

Mr. Harper moved that Gen. Pearson be retained on the committee, and the excuse denied. Carried.

A MAN named McKnight, who was engaged in repairing the front of the Farmer's Deposit Bank on Fourth avenue, was severely injured yesterday morning by the fall of a heavy bracket which struck him upon the shoulder. He was removed to his home on Penn avenue.

WE were in error Monday morning in stating that the Rev. Dr. Nesbitt assisted at the dedication of a church in Ohio on Sabbath. The Reverend gentleman, owing to sickness in the family, was not out of the city on that day, and was not engaged in ministerial work.

A MAN named John Riley was found dead about six o'clock on Monday evening, lying in an alley at Shady Side in the rear of Centre street. The deceased had been employed by Mr. Scanlon, and had left the house a short time before he was found, to go to the stable. When found he was lying on his face in the mud. He had been subject to fits and it is supposed that while under an attack he fell and was suffocated by the mud. The Coroner has been notified and will hold an inquest.

BOSS RUSH, ESQ., of Farmington, Fayette county, a veteran and influential Republican is spending a few days in the city. He is staying at the Central Hotel. Mr. Rush speaks confidently of Republican unity as evinced at the party convention held on Monday at Uniontown, every township was represented and no defection or dissatisfaction with State or National ticket was indicated. The enthusiasm for Grant is akin to that formerly evinced for Clay. Greeley is already an obsolete idea, neither Democrats or Republicans have any sympathy with the Cincinnati abortion.

That Case of Cholera.

MESSRS. EDITORS:—In the city journals of yesterday, it was stated a certificate had been handed to the Board of Health, from one of our physicians, certifying to a death from Asiatic cholera. As this announcement is calculated to alarm our citizens, you will please allow one who has some knowledge of the disease to say, that no such a case could have occured, and that the doctor who wrote the certificate was simply mistaken as to the character of the disease. Cases resembling cholera Asiatica, occur here every year, and your correspondent has seen several the present spring. A death now and then will occur from it, but generally it is among the most tractable of our diseases. It depends upon impure drinking water and the use of green peas, new potatoes, veal, cucumbers etc., which are taken into the stomach imperfectly masticated. It's symptoms are, vomiting, purging, thirst, prostration, and sometimes cramps in the abdoman and extremeties. This disease is called Cholera Morbus, and sometimes Sparadic Cholera; it no doubt is the disease of which the patient referred to died.

I might say here before closing, that Cholera Asiatica depends upon a special cause for its origin, without which no case can originate. Filth and impure air, without the existence of the cholera germ, can no more produce Asiatic Cholera than it can produce small-pox! To say, therefore, that Cholera Asiatica can originate in our midst, when its special cause does not exist here, is simply absurd. The history of cholera points to a foreign origin. Its seeds originate upon the banks of the Ganges, in Asia, and from thence are imported into Europe and other parts of the world by human intercourse and travel. When the disease comes to this continent, it is brought by ships to our ports of entry; in these places it is first seen. We hear of it first in New York, Baltimore, or New Orleans, and subsequently in the interior of the country. It is conveyed from place to place by travel and trade, and never appears singly, but epidemically, cutting off great numbers in a short time.

At this time there is no cholera on this continent; its germs do not exist here; filth and dirt cannot of themselves originate them; they cannot be among us. It is impossible for these germs to pass across the great ocean, avoid our seaports, and settle in this city to produce a single case of cholera. Such an idea is preposterous—none could conceive it but an enthusiast.

I make these remarks to calm the alarm of our citizens. No fear of cholera need be apprehended till we hear of its arrival in our seaports,—then, indeed, will we have cause for alarm.

Sensitiveness.

Let those, then, who secretly rejoice in the consciousness of a sensitive nature, pause and analyze the quality of their sensibility. If it be but a keen susceptibility to personal pleasure and pain, whether belonging to the appetites, affections, or inclinations, an intense zest for the admiration, honor or fame that others accord to them, and a corresponding chagrin at their indifference, aversion or scorn: if it is a captious spirit, that easily takes offence and feels aggrieved at every fancied slight, then let the spirit of self-complacency be replaced by that of humiliation and repentance. On the other hand, let those who glory in their stoical philosophy, or their cool and tranquil equanimity, also analyze their own natures, and see whether they are not, perchance, somewhat lacking in that pure and true susceptibility that delights in all beauty of nature and of art, of matter and of mind, of intellectual endowments and of moral goodness, and sympathizes in all sadness, though it touch not their own individual interests. Callousness is not strength; apathy is not power. A true and pure sensibility is equally opposed, on the one hand, to a selfish sensitiveness, wrapped up in its own pleasures, and on the other to a cold, hard, and uninspired stoicism.

Hard Work.

In discussing the question whether workmen have to work as hard now as in other years, the New York Times holds that the mere manual labor is not hard, and says: "But the mere exercise of muscular power is not all that constitutes hard work. The thought, the care, and the anxiety of some kinds of business, often looked upon as almost purely mechanical, are more exhaustive than the muscular exertion. There is much more brain-work required of mechanics and operatives than there was formerly. And there is another thing to be considered in this connection. Light and quick work is commonly more wearing than that which is heavy and slow. 'It is the pace that kills,' is a very well recognized motto in regard to horses, and the principle contained in it ought to be better understood than it is in reference to men. Twelve miles an hour, before a light trotting wagon, exhausts a pair of horses far more than six miles an hour with an omnibus. The quantity of rapid work required of men has, of late years, been greatly increased, while the heavy work has been diminished; but the heaviest work is, with the biped as with the quadruped, by no means always the hardest work."

Good Society.

Can I make you believe that they who constitute good society look upon society and dress and equipage and elegant houses and polite accomplishments as being only the accessories of life, and not the sum total of it? Culture, that true politeness whose ground is philanthropy, unaffected piety—these are the distinguishing characteristics of what deserves the name of good society. And they who lack these things, be they never so showy and pretentious and arrogant, will not gain an entrance into it.

But there are parents, even pious parents, who totally misconceive this matter. They teach their children that fashion and airy accomplishments are the main thing, the "open sesame" to all inmost and selected circles. Why should we wonder that their children make these things, which ought to be only the circumstances of life, the very staple and substance of it? Why should we wonder that they are illiterate and proud, and shallow and disagreeable?

THE St. Louis Democrat has received special advices from the leading farmers in Missouri, Kansas, Nebraska and Iowa in relation to the prospects of winter wheat, and from them it appears that the crop in no case is good and in most cases falls below one-half the usual average.
